Russia Boasts About Its Long Range Missiles

U. S. Rocket-Builder Planning Speedup In Satellite Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet marshal says Russia has intercontinental missiles that would be decisive in any future war.

Meanwhile, the Martin Co. said in Baltimore it is establishing a new division to speed arrangements for launching an American satellite under the Navy-directed Project Vanguard. The Martin Co. is prime contractor for the Vanguard satellite's three stage launching rocket.

In the political realm, the Democratic Advisory Council declared that "the all-out effort of the Soviets to establish themselves as masters of the space around us must be met by all-out efforts of our own."

The Russian missile boast was made by Artillery Marshal S. Barentsev Sunday in an article in the Communist newspaper Pravda. Barentsev's article followed the line taken by other Russian military leaders in celebrating Soviet Artillery Day.

• • •

BARENTSEV SAID long-range missiles give the Soviet Union the ability to smash any aggressor anywhere and under any conditions.

Another artilleryman, Marshal S. S. Varefsov, said Russia has ready a vast array of modern weapons, "including atomic, thermonuclear (hydrogen) and long-range rockets capable of destroying enemy targets at distances unimagine at the end of World War II."

A spokesman for the Martin Co. said in Baltimore the creation of its new division was not indicative of any dissatisfaction among company officials with progress so far in its satellite-missiles work.

"We're on schedule," he said. "but the schedule is behind the Russians."

Former President Truman and Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate in 1952 and 1956, were among the 17 members of the Democratic Advisory Council who approved Saturday's statement. It declared that the United States has fallen back of Russia in developing "weapons of tomorrow."

"If our military and research programs are being held back because of lack of funds," the Democratic statement said, "a special session of Congress should be called requesting the necessary additional appropriations and, if required, the raising of the debt limit."

TV Quiz Show Audience Gets Odd Challenge

NEW YORK (AP)—Viewers watching The $64,000 Challenge TV quiz Sunday night were startled to hear themselves challenged.

In the midst of the program, a man later identified by police as Richard Fichter, 34, of Springville, Pa., walked in front of a camera and read from a prepared statement: "America, I have a challenge. The Russians are ahead of you . . ."

Fichter got no further. The camera swung away from him, he was grabbed by the stage director and was ushered into the wings.

The director, Seymour Robbie, said later he saw Fichter walk into a televised area that included three contestants and a master of ceremonies but thought he was a CBS employe. As soon as Fichter began to read, Robbie shouted through an intercom system: "Remove him."

Fichter was taken by police to Bellevue Hospital, where he was admitted to the psychiatric ward.

Police refused to divulge the contents of his statement.

Studio officials said Fichter, a tall, bearded man, had tried to participate in rehearsals Sunday afternoon but was ejected. He had a ticket for the show.

Pair Married 77 Years Never Had 'Good Fight'

DODGEVILLE, Wis. (AP) — Two merry old people, who can't recall a serious quarrel, Sunday celebrated the anniversary of their wedding 77 years ago.

John Sleeman, 97, and his wife, 96, were married Nov. 17, 1880, in Cornwall, England.

Sleeman said he and his wife "never had a good fight." He explained that, whenever a disagreement grew warm, "I just put on my hat and went out."

Stevenson, Dulles Confer on NATO

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson arrived at the State Department today to confer with Secretary of State Dulles on President Eisenhower's plans for breathing new life into the Atlantic alliance.

"I am here to make comments and be helpful, to consult and discuss," said Stevenson who was defeated for the presidency in 1952 and 1956 by Eisenhower.

As he arrived at the State Department Building, the former Illinois governor said he could add little to what has already been said about his mission.

Stevenson has been asked to meet later with President Eisenhower, who now is vacationing in Augusta, Ga.

Arriving here from New York, Stevenson issued a statement outlining some of his own views including the need for "highly mobile forces" to combat brush fire wars, development of joint policies, and aid to underdeveloped countries.

• • •

"I AM HERE to help if I can to bring about a closer military and political association through NATO (the North Atlantic Treaty Organization)," he said.

He agreed to this attempt at bipartisanship, he said, because of "the gravity of our situation in the world."

Guardedly, in response to Dulles initial overtures last month, he refused to head up a State Department task force which would write the policy for Eisenhower's personal attendance at a NATO summit meeting next month.

But he agreed to "review and discuss" administration proposals and to support them "when we were in agreement."

In Augusta, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower wrote Stevenson last week expressing regret he would not be in Washington during Stevenson's visit today.

Eisenhower also said he intends to confer with Stevenson before leaving for the NATO meeting in Paris, Hagerty said, but added no date for such a meeting has been fixed.

In his formal statement, Stevenson said limited Communist aggression is more likely than all-out nuclear-missile war.

Plains States Hit by Snow

White Stuff Foot Deep In Parts of Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A wintry storm belted parts of the Midwest today, snarling traffic and closing schools.

The storm spread a heavy snow cover from northern Oklahoma into Wisconsin and accumulations up to a foot deep were forecast.

Russell in north central Kansas had eight inches of snow on the ground; Hill City, Kan., seven; LaCrosse, Wis., five; Council Bluffs, Iowa, nine, and Dumont, Wis., nine. Parts of Nebraska reported 10 inches.

Scores of schools were closed in Iowa because school buses couldn't move over the snow covered roads. Highway travel was slowed in southwest Iowa. A heavy glaze warning was issued for motorists in parts of Iowa.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Kansas City said snow was falling through eastern Nebraska, western and northern Iowa, Kansas and into northern Oklahoma and that strong northerly winds would cause considerable blowing and drifting.

• • •

THE SNOW let up in Kansas after dumping up to 10 inches on western sections and clear skies were forecast for Tuesday.

The storm caused some damage to unharvested portions of the sorghum crop.

The mercury nosedived to 12 degrees below zero in parts of Wyoming.

Heavy rains sprayed eastern Texas, western Tennessee and Kentucky, and southeastern Missouri. Dyersburg, Tenn., had three inches of rain in six hours.

Thousands of acres of farmland were inundated and many families were evacuated in the sodden southeast Missouri bootheel. The area has been drenched by 11 inches of rain in a week.

The rains ended the cotton crop for the year. Schools were closed in Bragg City, Deering, Portageville and Arbyrd.

Storms Lashing Southeast U. S.

ATLANTA (AP) — Thunderstorms struck wide areas in the Southeast quarter of the country today in the wake of a rash of out-of-season tornadoes which killed at least five persons in Alabama and Mississippi.

Twisters skipped across more than a dozen communities in the two states Sunday. Another tornado damaged homes and buildings at White settlement, near Fort Worth. Three persons were killed and nine injured in Alabama and two killed and several injured in Mississippi. Several homes and buildings were destroyed or damaged.

Mayflower II Ends New York Exhibition

NEW YORK (AP)—Public display of the Mayflower II in New York has ended after 4½ months during which an estimated half-million persons visited the replica of the Pilgrim ship.

Today the square-rigged bark goes under tow from its Manhattan pier to a Bethlehem Steel Co. shipyard in Brooklyn for caulking, then she will leave for Plymouth, Mass., to be turned over in a Thanksgiving Day ceremony.

Lima Opening 'Corpse-less' Murder Trial

LIMA (AP)—The first degree murder trial of Ralph Forsythe, 42, opened today in common pleas court here and the case resembles something that a fiction writer might dream up.

Forsythe is accused of the Aug. 10 slaying of Charles Conner, who was celebrating his 37th birthday. But Conner's body has never been found. The Lima paint company foreman just vanished.

The state, represented by prosecutor Anthony J. Bowers, is expected to hinge its case largely on the testimony of Harry Smith and Larue Arlington, who say they saw Forsythe shoot Conner.

To add to the mystery, the defense attorney, Ernest Navarre, has issued a subpoena for the "victim."

Lima police chief Donald F. Miller told newsmen shortly after the alleged murder was committed that "our investigation convinces me that Charles Conner was shot in the kitchen of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Forsythe's home about 9 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 10. Two witnesses tell us that Conner was shot."

A GRAND JURY indicted Forsythe for murder Sept. 21.

At that time Emory Galloway of the State Bureau of Criminal Investigation at London testified that blood found in Forsythe's kitchen, in a pickup truck and on one of his gloves had been analyzed as human blood.

The alleged shooting took place during the time Forsythe was free on bond pending an appeal from a contempt of court conviction. He was ordered out of Lima and Allen County a year ago after he pleaded guilty to two counts of operating a house of prostitution.

At the time of his banishment Forsythe was given the choice of leaving Lima forever or serving a one-year workhouse sentence. He left Lima, but later returned.

Forsythe's lawyers asked that the trial be shifted to another county where the alleged slaying has received less publicity. Judge Jenkins Saturday turned down the request for change of venue.

Chief Miller says:

"This case makes the TV program 'Alfred Hitchcock Presents' look silly. A shooting has been reported, but there is no body."

The alleged shooting took place during the time Forsythe was free on bond pending an appeal from a contempt of court conviction which followed his illegal return to Lima.

Mrs. Forsythe was held briefly by Lima police after the alleged shooting, but was released. Chief Miller said she was not involved in the offense for which her husband was banished from Lima by Judge Carl M. Blank.

'Ivy League' Bank Bandit, Others Arraigned in Court

COLUMBUS (AP) — Bill Evan Sparks of Columbus today pleaded guilty to a federal charge of robbing the Pickerington Bank Co. of $3,644 Sept. 20.

The 24-year-old service station manager, who had been called the "Ivy League bandit" because of the style cap he wore, waived a grand jury investigation when he appeared before Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood.

The judge ordered a probation report be prepared on Sparks, who has no previous criminal record.

In another case, the judge ordered a probation report for Helen L. Roach, 56, of Mount Vernon, who pleaded guilty to three counts of sending defamatory letters through the mail. She is accused of writing the letter to a man and saying his wife was going around with another man.

Russell R. McElroy, airman stationed at Lockbourne Air Force Base, pleaded guilty to two charges of robbing cab drivers at the base. He obtained $13 on Nov. 4 and $9 on Nov. 5. He also will be the subject of a probation report.

Edwin G. Newlun, Licking County farmer, pleaded not guilty to four charges of making false statements in applications for government crop loans. He is accused of saying he owned farm equipment that he did not own.

John S. Whiley, 52, of Lancaster, pleaded guilty to charges of failing to file personal federal income tax returns for 1954 and 1955.

Whiley blamed that on "drinking problem that became progressively worse."

He is a former employe of the Anchor Hocking Glass Co. and his attorney told the judge Whiley "was an unfortunate victim of a habit he could not escape, but he now is making a diligent attempt to rehabilitate himself."

Loren Windom, assistant district attorney, suggested Whiley be fined $5,000. The judge deferred sentencing until later.

Scientists Said 'Puzzling' Because They're Human Too

Editor's Note: Following is the first in a series of special articles by the chief Associated Press science reporter.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—Scientists are strange and puzzling people for one simple reason—they are human.

They are ordinary people with specialized knowledge in one or more sciences.

But they are bearing a cross of considerable public opinion which thinks scientists are oddballs, very evil or very dedicated to good, impractical, superhuman, absent-minded, self-centered, godless, or dull.

Surveys show 25 to nearly 50 per cent of teen-agers and adults hold such opinions.

This doesn't make scientists happy, naturally. They say these attitudes don't hurt them personally so much as science generally, and the decisions of youngsters whether to become scientists. Russia encourages no such views about science and scientists.

Movies about "mad scientists" played a part in creating prejudices against scientists, says anthropologist Margaret Mead.

So have concepts drawn from TV, newspapers, radio, teachers, gossip, and behavior of some scientists themselves.

Meet many scientists and their common denominator of humanity becomes clearly apparent.

Some are avid football or baseball fans, or love music, books, poker, or playing tennis or poll. Others like bridge, growing roses, seeing plays, travel, swimming.

Many are gay and witty, some quiet, some shy, or all these things at different times. Only a very few are stuffed shirts or snobs who think you ought to know a lot about their subject or speak their language in order to be intelligent—though they know precious little about other people's specialties.

They love their work, especially the good ones, and are wrapped up in it as is anyone who likes his job. They find their work exciting—that's why they chose it.

Dr. Ernest Pollard, chairman of Yale's biophysics department, tells a story illustrating how easy it is to absorb popular concepts about scientists in general.

A high school girl worked one summer in his laboratory as a dishwasher and assistant to a technician. Among eggs being used for research, one hatched a baby chick, which became her pet.

One day it tried to follow her into an elevator, and fell four floors into the well below.

"She was terribly impressed that scientists in our lab solved the not-easy problem of rescue in a few minutes through intelligence, brawn and kindness," Dr. Pollard says. "She says it was an eye-opener how human and nice scientists are, not like the popular pictures of them."

Ernie Pollard doesn't say so, but it's also a tribute that at home he's regarded as a human being, father and husband rather than a scientist.

For the young girl was his own daughter, Carol.

Girard Trial Verdict Due On Tuesday

MAEBASHI, Japan (AP) — The Japanese bride of GI William S. Girard prayed to Buddha today as she and her husband awaited the verdict in his manslaughter trial.

Girard, 22 - year - old specialist third class from Ottawa, Ill., will go Tuesday to the small Maebashi district courtroom where his trial began 2½ months ago.

WILLIAM S. GIRARD

He will learn then whether the Japanese court has found him guilty of manslaughter in the death of Mrs. Naka Sakai, who was shot last Jan. 30 as she collected scrap on a U. S. firing range at Somagahara.

Only three of about 450 U. S. servicemen tried in Japanese courts have been acquitted, but sentences usually are light and often are suspended.

Haru "Candy" Girard, who married the soldier shortly before the trial began, was before a candle-lit altar today in her rented room at Oizumi.

"Oh, Lord Buddha, have mercy," she prayed as incense smoke drifted to the ceiling.

Her eyes red and swollen, the 28-year-old bride said if Girard received a jail term she would like to serve it for him.

"If I can't, I'll wait even if I have to become a beggar," she said. "I'll wait forever. I love him more than ever."

HST Ponders 1960 Prospects

Little GOP Threat Seen in Deep South

WASHINGTON (AP)—If the Democratic party organization listens to former President Truman it may groom a 1960 presidential candidate who can appeal to the Northern big city vote without writing off the entire South.

Truman has told friends here he envisions a campaign somewhat similar to his successful race in 1948. In that year, Truman lost four Southern states to a Southern States Right party because of his espousal of civil rights legislation.

As do many other national leaders of the party, Truman believes the 1960 Democratic nominee must stand firmly for enforcement of the Supreme Court's school integration opinion.

But if his remarks are being interpreted correctly by his associates, Truman would rather see as a nominee a man whose support of this position is accepted without fanfare than one whose selection would have a red flag in the face of the South.

The difference is illustrated by Truman's friends (but not the former President himself) as lying between the possible candidacies of Democratic Governors Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey and G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

• • •

BOTH ARE strong advocates of civil rights but Williams has been more vocal on the subject.

Along with most other Democrats, Truman evidently believes the Republican party will be no threat in the South three years from now. This is based primarily on reaction to President Eisenhower's sending of federal troops to enforce a court order for integration in the Little Rock, Ark., high school.

Truman knows from experience, however, there can be more than a latent threat in the South's quadrennial talk of a third party.

Communist Chiefs Continuing Parley

MOSCOW (AP) — Leaders of the Communist world headed for Prague today to continue conferences on Red solidarity.

A series of Moscow discussions apparently aimed at greater Communist unity ended Sunday night with a Kremlin banquet. Soviet Party Secretary Nikita Khrushchev and Communist China's Mao Tze-tung both spoke, but the content of their speeches was not disclosed immediately.

Western diplomats believe the Moscow and Prague sessions probably point toward greater cooperation among Communist parties and on government levels—politically, economically and militarily.

Cincy Area Pinball Machines Confiscated

CINCINNATI (AP)—Raymond Ripberger, chief enforcement agent for the state liquor department, said today exhibitors of pinball machines here are going to be "hit and hit again until we get the situation cleaned up."

His announcement followed a widesweeping raid Saturday when 36 pinball machines were confiscated in 21 cafes.

The action by the state agents was announced to local authorities, who have been prevented by injunction from taking such steps.

Cold War's Spread into Space Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Agriculture Department economist said today next year's economic prospects as they affect both farmers and city folk have been clouded somewhat by what he called "the spread of the cold war into space."

Nathan M. Koffsky, department farm income authority, said in a talk at the agency's 35th annual Farm Outlook Conference that Russia's new accomplishments in the field of missiles could change the economic situation.

Nevertheless, it now appears, he said, that 1958 will see what he described as a "sidewise movement" of the economy, as contrasted with advahces of the last two years.

More than 150 farm officials, extension workers and farm educators were expected to participate in the week-long conference. The meeting will feature an exchang on views on farm developments and on the outlook for farming as a whole and for individual farm commodities.

"After more than two years of steady advance to new highs, economic activity in the nation has leveled off," Koffsky said. "Since early 1957, the nation's real output of goods and services has held fairly steady. Prospective changes in demands from consumers, from business and from government indicate that, on balance, the more or less sidewise movement of the economy can be expected to continue."

West Urge To OK Bilateral Parley

LONDON (AP)—George F. Kennan has urged the Western Allies to abandon opposition to bilateral negotiations with Russia.

"Coalitions are poor negotiators, particularly when anything positive is to be achieved," said the leading American expert on Soviet affairs in the second of a lecture series he is giving here.

The United States, Britain and France have steadfastly rejected Soviet suggestions for U.S.-Russian talks on major world issues. The British and French fear such bilateral negotiations would force them into the back seat.

Handy Man, 50 Questioned In Macabre Case

PLAINFIELD, Wis. (AP) — The Waushara County district attorney said today that five more human heads have been found on an isolated farm near Plainfield, raising to 10 the number of cadavers discovered so far in the house where a mild - mannered handy man lived alone.

Prosecutor Earl Kleen said that Edward Gein, 50, had broken a stubborn 30-hour silence something" about the macabre and admitted that he "knew something" about the macabre collection.

Kileen said that Gein told him he "might of" killed the victims, and admitted the ghastly butchering of a 58-year-old Plainfield businesswoman Saturday.

Gein was asked whether, in connection with the disemboweling of Mrs. Bernice Worden, he had intended to eat his victim.

"On that point he still has a lapse of memory," the district attorney said, adding that "it appears to be cannibalism."

And this community was full of rumor that Gein's bedroom was decorated with furniture upholstered in human skin.

Kileen said Gein would be arraigned on a charge of robbery.

Kileen, who earlier had said first - degree murder warrants would be issued, explained that theft of a cash register and its contents from the hardware store which Mrs. Bernice Worden, 58, a widow, had operated.

• • •

THE CASH register was found in Gein's rambling old farm house on an obscure town road seven miles southwest of here.

Mrs. Worden's disappearance Saturday touched off the search that led to the grisly trove.

Her decapitated body was found hung by its heels in the summer kitchen of Gein's home.

Officers said state crime laboratory officials had found four other skulls and other segments of female bodies in the house, mostly in the first-floor bedroom and kitchen which Gein occupied.

The rest of the house still is neatly furnished in a period of 50 years ago. Neighbors said most of the house was little used since Gein's mother died many years ago.

The search for Mrs. Worden began like this:

Bernard Muschinski, who operates a service station across the street from the large Worden hardware and implement store, saw Mrs. Worden in her store about 8 a.m. Saturday. However, at 9:30 a. m. he noticed that the store was locked. Since this was the opening of the deer season, a time when many small businesses close while the proprietors go hunting, the locked store excited no comment until evening.

• • •

MRS. WORDEN'S son, Frank, arrived at the station, and Muschinski had asked him whether his mother had gone hunting. Worden said she had not and became concerned. He went home for his key to the store.

When the store was opened, blood was found splashed on the floor and the cash register.

Frank recalled that Gein had been in the store several times during the last week and had declared Friday night he would return Saturday morning to buy a gallon of antifreeze. A sales slip for one gallon of antifreeze was the last item Mrs. Worden wrote before she disappeared.

Her son told Sheriff Art Schley of the incident, and Schley went to the Gein farmhouse, where he found the body.

Gein was taken into custody at a nearby county store where he had gone to eat supper.

Blind Composer, 84, Hailed at Banquet

NEW YORK (AP) — A throng of admirers joined Sunday night in singing happy birthday to William C. Handy, the blind composer of "St. Louis Blues."

For the 84-year-old Negro, it was a long way from St. Louis where, he recalled, "I was a tramp."

About 800 persons gathered in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel and paid $50 a plate—proceeds to the W. C. Handy Foundation for the Blind.

The state, represented by prosecutor Anthony J. Bowers, is expected to hinge its case largely on the testimony of Harry Smith and Larue Arlington, who say they saw Forsythe shoot Conner.

To add to the mystery, the defense attorney, Ernest Navarre, has issued a subpoena for the "victim."

Lima police chief Donald F. Miller told newsmen shortly after the alleged murder was committed that "our investigation convinces me that Charles Conner was shot in the kitchen of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Forsythe's home about 9 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 10. Two witnesses tell us that Conner was shot."

A GRAND JURY indicted Forsythe for murder Sept. 21.

At that time Emory Galloway of the State Bureau of Criminal Investigation at London testified that blood found in Forsythe's kitchen, in a pickup truck and on one of his gloves had been analyzed as human blood.

The alleged shooting took place during the time Forsythe was free on bond pending an appeal from a contempt of court conviction. He was ordered out of Lima and Allen County a year ago after he pleaded guilty to two counts of operating a house of prostitution.

At the time of his banishment Forsythe was given the choice of leaving Lima forever or serving a one-year workhouse sentence. He left Lima, but later returned.

Forsythe's lawyers asked that the trial be shifted to another county where the alleged slaying has received less publicity. Judge Jenkins Saturday turned down the request for change of venue.

Chief Miller says:

"This case makes the TV program 'Alfred Hitchcock Presents' look silly. A shooting has been reported, but there is no body."

The alleged shooting took place during the time Forsythe was free on bond pending an appeal from a contempt of court conviction which followed his illegal return to Lima.

Mrs. Forsythe was held briefly by Lima police after the alleged shooting, but was released. Chief Miller said she was not involved in the offense for which her husband was banished from Lima by Judge Carl M. Blank.

NEW YORK (AP)—Public display of the Mayflower II in New York has ended after 4½ months during which an estimated half-million persons visited the replica of the Pilgrim ship.

'Ivy League' Bank Bandit, Others Arraigned in Court

COLUMBUS (AP) — Bill Evan Sparks of Columbus today pleaded guilty to a federal charge of robbing the Pickerington Bank Co. of $3,644 Sept. 20.

The 24-year-old service station manager, who had been called the "Ivy League bandit" because of the style cap he wore, waived a grand jury investigation when he appeared before Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood.

The judge ordered a probation report be prepared on Sparks, who has no previous criminal record.

In another case, the judge ordered a probation report for Helen L. Roach, 56, of Mount Vernon, who pleaded guilty to three counts of sending defamatory letters through the mail. She is accused of writing the letter to a man and saying his wife was going around with another man.

Russell R. McElroy, airman stationed at Lockbourne Air Force Base, pleaded guilty to two charges of robbing cab drivers at the base. He obtained $13 on Nov. 4 and $9 on Nov. 5. He also will be the subject of a probation report.

Edwin G. Newlun, Licking County farmer, pleaded not guilty to four charges of making false statements in applications for government crop loans. He is accused of saying he owned farm equipment that he did not own.

John S. Whiley, 52, of Lancaster, pleaded guilty to charges of failing to file personal federal income tax returns for 1954 and 1955.

Whiley blamed that on "drinking problem that became progressively worse."

He is a former employe of the Anchor Hocking Glass Co. and his attorney told the judge Whiley "was an unfortunate victim of a habit he could not escape, but he now is making a diligent attempt to rehabilitate himself."

Loren Windom, assistant district attorney, suggested Whiley be fined $5,000. The judge deferred sentencing until later.

Scientists Said 'Puzzling' Because They're Human Too

Editor's Note: Following is the first in a series of special articles by the chief Associated Press science reporter.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—Scientists are strange and puzzling people for one simple reason—they are human.

They are ordinary people with specialized knowledge in one or more sciences.

But they are bearing a cross of considerable public opinion which thinks scientists are oddballs, very evil or very dedicated to good, impractical, superhuman, absent-minded, self-centered, godless, or dull.

Surveys show 25 to nearly 50 per cent of teen-agers and adults hold such opinions.

This doesn't make scientists happy, naturally. They say these attitudes don't hurt them personally so much as science generally, and the decisions of youngsters whether to become scientists. Russia encourages no such views about science and scientists.

Movies about "mad scientists" played a part in creating prejudices against scientists, says anthropologist Margaret Mead.

So have concepts drawn from TV, newspapers, radio, teachers, gossip, and behavior of some scientists themselves.

Meet many scientists and their common denominator of humanity becomes clearly apparent.

Some are avid football or baseball fans, or love music, books, poker, or playing tennis or poll. Others like bridge, growing roses, seeing plays, travel, swimming.

Many are gay and witty, some quiet, some shy, or all these things at different times. Only a very few are stuffed shirts or snobs who think you ought to know a lot about their subject or speak their language in order to be intelligent—though they know precious little about other people's specialties.

They love their work, especially the good ones, and are wrapped up in it as is anyone who likes his job. They find their work exciting—that's why they chose it.

Dr. Ernest Pollard, chairman of Yale's biophysics department, tells a story illustrating how easy it is to absorb popular concepts about scientists in general.

A high school girl worked one summer in his laboratory as a dishwasher and assistant to a technician. Among eggs being used for research, one hatched a baby chick, which became her pet.

One day it tried to follow her into an elevator, and fell four floors into the well below.

"She was terribly impressed that scientists in our lab solved the not-easy problem of rescue in a few minutes through intelligence, brawn and kindness," Dr. Pollard says. "She says it was an eye-opener how human and nice scientists are, not like the popular pictures of them."

Ernie Pollard doesn't say so, but it's also a tribute that at home he's regarded as a human being, father and husband rather than a scientist.

For the young girl was his own daughter, Carol.

Girard Trial Verdict Due On Tuesday

MAEBASHI, Japan (AP) — The Japanese bride of GI William S. Girard prayed to Buddha today as she and her husband awaited the verdict in his manslaughter trial.

Girard, 22 - year - old specialist third class from Ottawa, Ill., will go Tuesday to the small Maebashi district courtroom where his trial began 2½ months ago.

WILLIAM S. GIRARD

He will learn then whether the Japanese court has found him guilty of manslaughter in the death of Mrs. Naka Sakai, who was shot last Jan. 30 as she collected scrap on a U. S. firing range at Somagahara.

Only three of about 450 U. S. servicemen tried in Japanese courts have been acquitted, but sentences usually are light and often are suspended.

Haru "Candy" Girard, who married the soldier shortly before the trial began, was before a candle-lit altar today in her rented room at Oizumi.

"Oh, Lord Buddha, have mercy," she prayed as incense smoke drifted to the ceiling.

Her eyes red and swollen, the 28-year-old bride said if Girard received a jail term she would like to serve it for him.

"If I can't, I'll wait even if I have to become a beggar," she said. "I'll wait forever. I love him more than ever."

HST Ponders 1960 Prospects

Little GOP Threat Seen in Deep South

WASHINGTON (AP)—If the Democratic party organization listens to former President Truman it may groom a 1960 presidential candidate who can appeal to the Northern big city vote without writing off the entire South.

Truman has told friends here he envisions a campaign somewhat similar to his successful race in 1948. In that year, Truman lost four Southern states to a Southern States Right party because of his espousal of civil rights legislation.

As do many other national leaders of the party, Truman believes the 1960 Democratic nominee must stand firmly for enforcement of the Supreme Court's school integration opinion.

But if his remarks are being interpreted correctly by his associates, Truman would rather see as a nominee a man whose support of this position is accepted without fanfare than one whose selection would have a red flag in the face of the South.

The difference is illustrated by Truman's friends (but not the former President himself) as lying between the possible candidacies of Democratic Governors Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey and G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

• • •

BOTH ARE strong advocates of civil rights but Williams has been more vocal on the subject.

Along with most other Democrats, Truman evidently believes the Republican party will be no threat in the South three years from now. This is based primarily on reaction to President Eisenhower's sending of federal troops to enforce a court order for integration in the Little Rock, Ark., high school.

Truman knows from experience, however, there can be more than a latent threat in the South's quadrennial talk of a third party.

Communist Chiefs Continuing Parley

MOSCOW (AP) — Leaders of the Communist world headed for Prague today to continue conferences on Red solidarity.

A series of Moscow discussions apparently aimed at greater Communist unity ended Sunday night with a Kremlin banquet. Soviet Party Secretary Nikita Khrushchev and Communist China's Mao Tze-tung both spoke, but the content of their speeches was not disclosed immediately.

Western diplomats believe the Moscow and Prague sessions probably point toward greater cooperation among Communist parties and on government levels—politically, economically and militarily.

Cincy Area Pinball Machines Confiscated

CINCINNATI (AP)—Raymond Ripberger, chief enforcement agent for the state liquor department, said today exhibitors of pinball machines here are going to be "hit and hit again until we get the situation cleaned up."

His announcement followed a widesweeping raid Saturday when 36 pinball machines were confiscated in 21 cafes.

The action by the state agents was announced to local authorities, who have been prevented by injunction from taking such steps.

Cold War's Spread into Space Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Agriculture Department economist said today next year's economic prospects as they affect both farmers and city folk have been clouded somewhat by what he called "the spread of the cold war into space."

Nathan M. Koffsky, department farm income authority, said in a talk at the agency's 35th annual Farm Outlook Conference that Russia's new accomplishments in the field of missiles could change the economic situation.

Nevertheless, it now appears, he said, that 1958 will see what he described as a "sidewise movement" of the economy, as contrasted with advahces of the last two years.

More than 150 farm officials, extension workers and farm educators were expected to participate in the week-long conference. The meeting will feature an exchang on views on farm developments and on the outlook for farming as a whole and for individual farm commodities.

"After more than two years of steady advance to new highs, economic activity in the nation has leveled off," Koffsky said. "Since early 1957, the nation's real output of goods and services has held fairly steady. Prospective changes in demands from consumers, from business and from government indicate that, on balance, the more or less sidewise movement of the economy can be expected to continue."

West Urge To OK Bilateral Parley

LONDON (AP)—George F. Kennan has urged the Western Allies to abandon opposition to bilateral negotiations with Russia.

"Coalitions are poor negotiators, particularly when anything positive is to be achieved," said the leading American expert on Soviet affairs in the second of a lecture series he is giving here.

The United States, Britain and France have steadfastly rejected Soviet suggestions for U.S.-Russian talks on major world issues. The British and French fear such bilateral negotiations would force them into the back seat.

Handy Man, 50 Questioned In Macabre Case

PLAINFIELD, Wis. (AP) — The Waushara County district attorney said today that five more human heads have been found on an isolated farm near Plainfield, raising to 10 the number of cadavers discovered so far in the house where a mild - mannered handy man lived alone.

Prosecutor Earl Kleen said that Edward Gein, 50, had broken a stubborn 30-hour silence something" about the macabre and admitted that he "knew something" about the macabre collection.

Kileen said that Gein told him he "might of" killed the victims, and admitted the ghastly butchering of a 58-year-old Plainfield businesswoman Saturday.

Gein was asked whether, in connection with the disemboweling of Mrs. Bernice Worden, he had intended to eat his victim.

"On that point he still has a lapse of memory," the district attorney said, adding that "it appears to be cannibalism."

And this community was full of rumor that Gein's bedroom was decorated with furniture upholstered in human skin.

Kileen said Gein would be arraigned on a charge of robbery.

Kileen, who earlier had said first - degree murder warrants would be issued, explained that theft of a cash register and its contents from the hardware store which Mrs. Bernice Worden, 58, a widow, had operated.

• • •

THE CASH register was found in Gein's rambling old farm house on an obscure town road seven miles southwest of here.

Mrs. Worden's disappearance Saturday touched off the search that led to the grisly trove.

Her decapitated body was found hung by its heels in the summer kitchen of Gein's home.

Officers said state crime laboratory officials had found four other skulls and other segments of female bodies in the house, mostly in the first-floor bedroom and kitchen which Gein occupied.

The rest of the house still is neatly furnished in a period of 50 years ago. Neighbors said most of the house was little used since Gein's mother died many years ago.

The search for Mrs. Worden began like this:

Bernard Muschinski, who operates a service station across the street from the large Worden hardware and implement store, saw Mrs. Worden in her store about 8 a.m. Saturday. However, at 9:30 a. m. he noticed that the store was locked. Since this was the opening of the deer season, a time when many small businesses close while the proprietors go hunting, the locked store excited no comment until evening.

• • •

MRS. WORDEN'S son, Frank, arrived at the station, and Muschinski had asked him whether his mother had gone hunting. Worden said she had not and became concerned. He went home for his key to the store.

When the store was opened, blood was found splashed on the floor and the cash register.

Frank recalled that Gein had been in the store several times during the last week and had declared Friday night he would return Saturday morning to buy a gallon of antifreeze. A sales slip for one gallon of antifreeze was the last item Mrs. Worden wrote before she disappeared.

Her son told Sheriff Art Schley of the incident, and Schley went to the Gein farmhouse, where he found the body.

Gein was taken into custody at a nearby county store where he had gone to eat supper.

NEW YORK (AP) — A throng of admirers joined Sunday night in singing happy birthday to William C. Handy, the blind composer of "St. Louis Blues."

About 800 persons gathered in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel and paid $50 a plate—proceeds to the W. C. Handy Foundation for the Blind.

Tokyo Says Soviet Asks Swap of Data

TOKYO (AP) — The Tokyo Astronominal Observator said today the Soviet Union has proposed an exchange of information with Japan on earth satellites.

Japan has received much of its previous advance data on the two Soviet Sputniks, such as their anticipated route, from the calculations of U. S. scientists. The Russians have given out almost no advance data except the radio frequencies on which the baby moons transmit and timetables of their crossings over various cities.

Man Defeated In Foot Race Against Horse

ROOSEVELT, Utah (AP)—The results of that 158-mile horse versus - man marathon that ended Sunday apparently didn't settle much. The exhausted foot racer who lost wants to try it again.

"I'll be back again," 24-year-old Brigham Young University student Albert Ray of St. Albans, N. Y., said as he hobbled around on swollen feet.

Ray had to give up 50 miles from here on the Salt Lake City-to-Roosevelt run. He was bushed and the two horsemen he tried to beat were near the finish line.

The race began in the Utah capital city Friday morning and ended 57 hours and 15 minutes later. It snowed at times and the mercury dropped under freezing.

The grueling "marathon" that was supposed to settle an old Western argument about which is faster — man or mount — ended when 76-year-old cowboy Roy Hatch and corider Ray Hall, 18, both of Roosevelt, trotted their steeds down the main street Sunday night and broke a ribbon stretched across an intersection.

The two saddle sore cowpokes indicated they would be happy to ride again in 1958. Then they went to bed.

In the welcoming committee was Ray the runner. When he couldn't make it the last 50 miles here, he piled into a car and whizzed past the riders.

Ray had started the marathon with 18-year-old Terry Jensen of Idaho Falls, Idaho, another student at BYU. Jensen withdrew after the first day with a tight tendon.

COL. DON CALDWELL— Funeral services for Col. Don L. Caldwell, 67, retired U. S. Army officer, and commander of Greenfield Co. G. in World War I, who died Thursday at McDill Air Force Base, Tampa, Fla., were held Saturday afternoon at the base in Florida.

Interment was made Monday in Arlington National Cemetery, Washington D. C.

Col. Caldwell at one time was top sergeant and later first lieutenant in Company M, this city, and at the beginning of World War I he and Sgt. Walter A. Wilson, Washington C. H., organized Co. G, Greenfield, which, with Co. M, Ohio National Guard, were part of the famous Rainbow Division in the first World War. He was captain of G. Co.

He was the first state commander of the Ohio Rainbow Veterans, was engaged in business in New York for a time, and later was head of U. S. Army Intelligence in the Philippine Islands.

He was well known in Washington C. H. and had relatives here.

Permission Necessary To Hunt Anywhere

Rain put a crimp in hunting Monday and, at the same time, eased the pressure of duties of law enforcement officers, Game Protector David Krupla said.

However, the telephones kept jangling in the homes and offices of the officers. The calls, Krupla said, came from farmers and landowners, who wanted to clarify the laws on trespassing.

The game protector said he emphasized that hunters are required under the law to get permission of the farmer to hunt, regardless of whether "No Hunting and No Trespassing" signs are posted on the land.

"The mere fact that a farm is not posted," Krupla said, "does not mean that hunters may go on the land without permission." Failure to get written permission of the farmer or land owner makes a hunter liable to prosecution for trespassing, Krupla declared.

* * *

FRIDAY, the opening day of the hunting season for pheasants and rabbits, was a busy one, Krupla said and added that one of the chief sources of worry for officers was trespassing.

There were a lot of hunters in the field Saturday too, Krupla said, but not nearly so many as on the opening day.

Indications were, the game protector said, are that most of the hunters got at least one cock bird and many of them got the bag limit of two.

They also came in with the hunting coats weighted down with rabbits, he said and pointed out that while most of the hunters were primarily after pheasants, they were shooting rabbits whenever they had the opportunity.

City Fines Men And Has to Pay

GEORGETOWN, Ky. (AP) — This city will lose money on two men fined $500 each and given 30-day jail sentences. They elected "to lay out" the fine in jail.

That means each serves 250 days to pay off his fine at the rate of $2 a day. The extra 30 - day terms add up to a total of 280 days for each.

It costs Georgetown $1.50 a day to feed a prisoner. Instead of collecting $1,000, the city will spend $840 on the men.

Erring Hunters, Drivers Create Big Court Docket

3 Drunk Drivers Fined; Session Runs Past Noon

Municipal Court was still in session at noon Monday as a rash of hunting cases and the usual run of traffic counts resulted in the heaviest docket in months.

Acting Judge Edmond S. Woodmansee was on the bench, in lieu of Judge Max G. Dice, who had gone hunting, as court opened. Woodmansee meted out sentences to three men charged with drunken driving and one other person accused of a traffic offense.

He fined three men for trespassing, one man for illegal possession of quail, two for illegal possession of cock pheasants and one for possessing more than the legal pheasant limit.

Close to a dozen cases were still to be heard at noon.

* * *

FINED $200 and costs apiece for drunken driving were Lester Grooms, 39, of Route 3, Claude Million, 25, of Columbus, and Manuel Fout, 63, of Jamestown, Fout pleaded innocent and was found guilty. The other two pleaded guilty.

All three were sentenced to 10 days in jail with seven days suspended. Fout and Million had their driving rights suspended for a year, while Grooms was fined an additional $15 and costs, with the fine suspended, for not possessing a driving license.

Million was arrested by city police and sheriff's officers on S. Fayette St. about 2:35 a. m. Sunday, after he was spotted running a red light. Pleading guilty to the red light charge in court Monday, he was fined $10 and costs with $5 of the fine suspended.

Grooms was arrested by Sheriff Orland Hays about 1 p. m. Saturday on Stafford Rd. after he ran through a farm fence.

Fout was arrested by the sheriff's department about 5:30 p. m. Saturday on Route 35 north.

Found not guilty of a drunken driving charge was Kenneth Garrison, 37, of Route 1, Georgetown. He was arrested about 7 p. m. Friday after a two - car collision on the CCC Highway west in which a Sabina girl was hurt.

* * *

FINED $100 each on each of two counts of illegal possession of quail was Joseph A. Niehaus, 18, of Cincinnati, who pleaded guilty.

Esten Maple, 47, Chillicothe, pleaded guilty to two counts of illegal possession of cock pheasants. He was fined $75 and costs on each count. David Allen, 32, of Londonderry, was fined $75 and costs after he pleaded guilty to the same charge.

Fined $75 and costs after he pleaded guilty to possessing more pheasants than the legal limit was Clarence Hayslip, 49, of Clarksville.

* * *

FINED $10 and costs each after they pleaded guilty to trespassing were Andy Bays, 24, Willie Thornsburg, 42, and Walter Blanton, 22, all of Franklin Furnace (Scioto County).

Mrs. Irma C. Mallory, 43, of Sabina, pleaded guilty to reckless driving and was fined $15 and costs.

Forfeiting $20 bond each for nonappearance on trespassing charges were Cly deWilliams, 30, and Paul Brim, 31, both of Cincinnati, and Paul Green, 35, of Lucasville.

Tokyo Says Soviet Asks Swap of Data

TOKYO (AP) — The Tokyo Astronominal Observator said today the Soviet Union has proposed an exchange of information with Japan on earth satellites.

Japan has received much of its previous advance data on the two Soviet Sputniks, such as their anticipated route, from the calculations of U. S. scientists. The Russians have given out almost no advance data except the radio frequencies on which the baby moons transmit and timetables of their crossings over various cities.

Man Defeated In Foot Race Against Horse

ROOSEVELT, Utah (AP)—The results of that 158-mile horse versus - man marathon that ended Sunday apparently didn't settle much. The exhausted foot racer who lost wants to try it again.

"I'll be back again," 24-year-old Brigham Young University student Albert Ray of St. Albans, N. Y., said as he hobbled around on swollen feet.

Ray had to give up 50 miles from here on the Salt Lake City-to-Roosevelt run. He was bushed and the two horsemen he tried to beat were near the finish line.

The race began in the Utah capital city Friday morning and ended 57 hours and 15 minutes later. It snowed at times and the mercury dropped under freezing.

The grueling "marathon" that was supposed to settle an old Western argument about which is faster — man or mount — ended when 76-year-old cowboy Roy Hatch and corider Ray Hall, 18, both of Roosevelt, trotted their steeds down the main street Sunday night and broke a ribbon stretched across an intersection.

The two saddle sore cowpokes indicated they would be happy to ride again in 1958. Then they went to bed.

In the welcoming committee was Ray the runner. When he couldn't make it the last 50 miles here, he piled into a car and whizzed past the riders.

Ray had started the marathon with 18-year-old Terry Jensen of Idaho Falls, Idaho, another student at BYU. Jensen withdrew after the first day with a tight tendon.

Damage Suit Goes to Jury Here Monday

A $50,000 personal injury damage suit brought by Miss Virginia A. Thompson, 522 Columbus Ave., against Marton S. Titus, 512 Columbus Ave., went to the jury in Common Pleas Court at 10:55 a. m. Monday.

The jury went to lunch at noon after preliminary deliberations.

Testimony was completed Friday afternoon when the court recessed for the weekend. Monday's session opened with 30-minute closing arguments by opposing counsel and were followed by Judge John P. Case's charge to the jury.

Miss Thompson asks $25,000 compensatory and $25,000 punitive damages, testifying that Titus struck her in the face, fracturing her nose, on the night of Nov. 26, 1956.

The defendant denied on the stand that he had struck her.

Permission Necessary To Hunt Anywhere

Rain put a crimp in hunting Monday and, at the same time, eased the pressure of duties of law enforcement officers, Game Protector David Krupla said

However, the telephones kept jangling in the homes and offices of the officers. The calls, Krupla said, came from farmers and landowners, who wanted to clarify the laws on trespassing.

The game protector said he emphasized that hunters are required under the law to get permission of the farmer to hunt, regardless of whether "No Hunting and No Trespassing" signs are posted on the land.

"The mere fact that a farm is not posted," Krupla said, "does not mean that hunters may go on the land without permission." Failure to get written permission of the farmer or land owner makes a hunter liable to prosecution for trespassing, Krupla declared.

* * *

FRIDAY, the opening day of the hunting season for pheasants and rabbits, was a busy one, Krupla said and added that one of the chief sources of worry for officers was trespassing.

There were a lot of hunters in the field Saturday too, Krupla said, but not nearly so many as on the opening day.

Indications were, the game protector said, are that most of the hunters got at least one cock bird and many of them got the bag limit of two.

They also came in with the hunting coats weighted down with rabbits, he said and pointed out that while most of the hunters were primarily after pheasants, they were shooting rabbits whenever they had the opportunity.

City Fines Men And Has to Pay

GEORGETOWN, Ky. (AP) — This city will lose money on two men fined $500 each and given 30-day jail sentences. They elected "to lay out" the fine in jail.

That means each serves 250 days to pay off his fine at the rate of $2 a day. The extra 30 - day terms add up to a total of 280 days for each.

It costs Georgetown $1.50 a day to feed a prisoner. Instead of collecting $1,000, the city will spend $840 on the men.

Foreign Trade, Aid Battles Shaping Up

Hot Tariff Fight Seen in Congress As Red Offers Mount

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. foreign trade and aid policy is getting a new look today on the eve of what may become the hottest congressional fight over tariffs in 25 years.

A U.S. State Department official reports the Communist countries have more than 100 trade and payments agreements with underdeveloped non - Communist countries. The Reds offer increased trade, loans and technical assistance.

The White House is expected to ask Congress for a step up in foreign aid next year, citing the missile peril. It is also going to fight hard for a five year extension of the reciprocal trade program, which is under heavy fire from the strongest gathering of the protectionist clans since Smoot-Hawley tariff days.

Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the American Iron & Steel Institute, tells some 2,000 leaders in business, finance, shipping, education and government meeting here for the 44th National Foreign Trade Convention: "Our secret weapon is trade—trade under our system of capitalism and competitive enterprise—accompanied by capital investment and technical aid in undeveloped countries."

Fairless, once head of U.S. Steel, urges the business leaders to see that private capital be the big weapon—not taxpayers money in the form of government aid.

Foreign traders are meeting at a critical time for their business. The Department of Commerce reports U.S. exports have been declining for the last six months. Part of this is due to a growing inability of other nations to pay for American goods, and part to the increasing competition from German and Japanese manufacturers.

France's faltering franc and England's recently bolstered pound worry traders and international bankers. What the infant common market in Western Europe will do to America's trade there is still in doubt.

Russian trade competition isn't much of a threat yet but some American businessmen think the day is coming when it could be.

At home the battle lines are being tightly drawn over the about-to-expire Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act. An increasing number of industries complain of being hurt by foreign competition and clamor for higher tariff or import quota barriers.

The administration, on the other hand, is more anxious with each new Sputnik to build friendlier relations with our allies, even though they be trade competitors. Lower tariffs would do this and the White House hopes, so would increased foreign aid.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

At many places in the county, as well as in this part of Ohio generally, I notice the gaunt arms of dead elm trees, the work of Dutch elm disease which first appeared 35 years ago. The disease is believed to have been brought here when infected elm logs were hauled through the county on the old C. H. & D. Railroad.

Thousands of elm trees in the community have been stricken with the blight, which has been almost as deadly as the chestnut blight which killed every chestnut tree in Ohio and most of the country about the time the Dutch elm disease appeared.

Soon after a tree is affected with the disease, it withers and dies. In a remarkably short time dry rot has resulted in limbs breaking off and falling until little is left at the tree but the trunk, and that does not last very long.

Many lovely elm shade trees in Washington C H have fallen victim to the disease. It is expected that nearly all white elms will be killed by the blight before it ends.

Spraying and other attention has resulted in saving many elms which have shown signs of succumbing to the disease, or have been exposed to the blight.

OLD TIME OYSTER DEALER

I have two cards issued some 50 to 70 years ago by B. B. Ott On one side of the cards is his advertisement for oysters and on the other side of one is a picture of former President James A Garfield, printed from an old wood cut

In those days oysters were selling around 15 cents (or less) a pint, and evidently B. B. Ott believed in the brand of oysters he handled, for this is what he had to say about them:

"New York oysters! The best oyster caught in the world.

"I handle them and them only, and when you purchase of me you do not get the Baltimore stock You can send a child to my place and get them perfectly fresh, as I never sell a sour oyster. Try them once and you will have no other.

"I am the only person in this city that handles strictly the New York oyster.

"I am prepared to furnish them ready for frying, and furnish them in any part of the city, fried in first class style on a very short notice".

Ott probably kept the oysters in good condition, refrigerated with ice cut from the old Millikan Mill race, or Paint Creek, for local ice, kept as long as possible in an old ice house near the creek, was the only ice available in those days.

BAMBOO GROWS NATIVE

It may be somewhat surprising to know that bamboo, which is usually found in the tropical climates, grows native in Ohio.

I have seen it growing in Pike County and one or two other places in southern Ohio. The bamboo is used there for fishing poles among other things.

The type of bamboo growing in Ohio is not of the large size found in the tropics, however.

Some bamboo for years has been growing in Fayette County, where it has been transplanted from New Mexico and other places.

A clump of it grows on the Weade farm, Flakes Ford Rd.; on the Buck Greenhouses tract; on the former J. E. Hare farm, a mile south of Staunton at the intersection of the Anderson Rd. and Route 62, and a few other places.

However, this type of bamboo makes a complete growth of stalks each season, while the native bamboo does not.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Dangers of World War I were brought home to local residents when two men, believed to have been German agents, sought to burn the Washington Milling Co. elevator on S. Fayette St., where more than 30,000 bushels of wheat was stored. Howard McLean, secretary of the company, discovered the attempt and opened fire with a shotgun. The men fled.

A mass meeting of business men was called to establish guards at all important plants in the county.

Kerensky forces in Russia were defeated in civil war as disorders continued in Russia.

The coal famine here was continuing with some relief promised by fuel administrators.

Seventy - one Christmas packages were mailed from here to Company M members in France; first letters from Fayette County men were reaching relatives and friends here.

The Italian army, standing firm on Piave River, killed all Germans and Austrians who crossed the river, taking no prisoners. Italians had released floodwaters of the stream to further hamper enemy forces.

The U. S. Destroyer Chauncey was rammed and sunk in accident with 21 sailors lost.

Three long troop trains containing 3,700 soldiers passed through the city, en route to Camp Perry for rifle practice.

The British and French drove the Germans back six miles on a 30 - mile front, and resisted all counter attacks.

The Frank Coe barn near Jeffersonville, was destroyed by mysterious fire, one of several in county recently; Enemy agents were suspected.

Council was considering placing the mayor and police chief on straight salaries instead of permitting them to collect costs in city cases.

Thousands of elm trees in the community have been stricken with the blight, which has been almost as deadly as the chestnut blight which killed every chestnut tree in Ohio and most of the country about the time the Dutch elm disease appeared.

Soon after a tree is affected with the disease, it withers and dies. In a remarkably short time dry rot has resulted in limbs breaking off and falling until little is left at the tree but the trunk, and that does not last very long.

Many lovely elm shade trees in Washington C H have fallen victim to the disease. It is expected that nearly all white elms will be killed by the blight before it ends.

Spraying and other attention has resulted in saving many elms which have shown signs of succumbing to the disease, or have been exposed to the blight.

OLD TIME OYSTER DEALER

I have two cards issued some 50 to 70 years ago by B. B. Ott On one side of the cards is his advertisement for oysters and on the other side of one is a picture of former President James A Garfield, printed from an old wood cut

In those days oysters were selling around 15 cents (or less) a pint, and evidently B. B. Ott believed in the brand of oysters he handled, for this is what he had to say about them:

"New York oysters! The best oyster caught in the world.

"I handle them and them only, and when you purchase of me you do not get the Baltimore stock You can send a child to my place and get them perfectly fresh, as I never sell a sour oyster. Try them once and you will have no other.

"I am the only person in this city that handles strictly the New York oyster.

"I am prepared to furnish them ready for frying, and furnish them in any part of the city, fried in first class style on a very short notice".

Ott probably kept the oysters in good condition, refrigerated with ice cut from the old Millikan Mill race, or Paint Creek, for local ice, kept as long as possible in an old ice house near the creek, was the only ice available in those days.

BAMBOO GROWS NATIVE

It may be somewhat surprising to know that bamboo. which is usually found in the tropical climates, grows native in Ohio.

I have seen it growing in Pike County and one or two other places in southern Ohio. The bamboo is used there for fishing poles among other things.

The type of bamboo growing in Ohio is not of the large size found in the tropics, however.

Some bamboo for years has been growing in Fayette County, where it has been transplanted from New Mexico and other places.

A clump of it grows on the Weade farm, Flakes Ford Rd.; on the Buck Greenhouses tract; on the former J. E. Hare farm, a mile south of Staunton at the intersection of the Anderson Rd. and Route 62, and a few other places.

However, this type of bamboo makes a complete growth of stalks each season, while the native bamboo does not.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Dangers of World War I were brought home to local residents when two men, believed to have been German agents, sought to burn the Washington Milling Co. elevator on S. Fayette St., where more than 30,000 bushels of wheat was stored. Howard McLean, secretary of the company, discovered the attempt and opened fire with a shotgun. The men fled.

A mass meeting of business men was called to establish guards at all important plants in the county.

Kerensky forces in Russia were defeated in civil war as disorders continued in Russia.

The coal famine here was continuing with some relief promised by fuel administrators.

Seventy - one Christmas packages were mailed from here to Company M members in France; first letters from Fayette County men were reaching relatives and friends here.

The Italian army, standing firm on Piave River, killed all Germans and Austrians who crossed the river, taking no prisoners. Italians had released floodwaters of the stream to further hamper enemy forces.

The U. S. Destroyer Chauncey was rammed and sunk in accident with 21 sailors lost.

Three long troop trains containing 3,700 soldiers passed through the city en route to Camp Perry for rifle practice.

The British and French drove the Germans back six miles on a 30 - mile front, and resisted all counter attacks.

The Frank Coe barn near Jeffersonville, was destroyed by mysterious fire, one of several in county recently; Enemy agents were suspected.

Council was considering placing the mayor and police chief on straight salaries instead of permitting them to collect costs in city cases.

2 Men Questioned In Cincy Shootings

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two men are being held for questioning in separate fatal shooting here Sunday.

William Adams, 43, was killed by a shotgun blast as he sat in his car in a suburb. Deputy sheriffs said witnesses told them the slayer was John Hearn, 40. He surrendered to sheriff's investigator Carl Meyer late Sunday night.

Deputies said they were told the men argued while Adams had his car stopped at an intersection.

The other man killed was Robert West, 30. He was shot to death in his West End apartment. Detectives said Clarence Moore, 51, another occupant of the building, told them the shooting occurred as the two men argued over some defective plumbing.

Why Christmas Seal Buying Is Important

During the past week over 5,000 families in Fayette County have now received letters enclosing Christmas Seals from the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association and this active local organization's work is deserving of liberal contributions from the people of this community.

Each year, as the Christmas season approaches, through the efforts of the National TB Association, a vigorous Christmas Seal campaign is carried on to finance the extensive work carried on. The greatest part of the contributions made is retained by each local association to aid the work in its home community.

It would be hard indeed to find a cause more worthy of public interest and support. Quite a sizable amount of money has been spent in our own local community by the association here toward aiding people who need help.

Great strides have been made in fighting tuberculosis— due in no small part to the work of the national and local associations, and to the financial success past sales have achieved. A great deal more remains to be done and must be done.

The latest estimates indicate that more than 250,000 Americans have active TB, 100,000 of them unknown to health authorities. In addition, there are 1,750,000 people with inactive TB, and 550,000 of them are still in need of medical supervision or public health follow-up.

An estimated 55,000,000 Americans —a third of the population— are infected with the germs that cause TB. Some 2,700,000 of this huge group will develop TB in their lifetimes, if the present rate of development of disease from infection continues.

Early diagnosis and immediate treatment are essential in the control of TB. Education of the public and continued research are other vital weapons in this war.

The Christmas Seal Sale supports the work of the 3,000 voluntary tuberculosis associations in this country and its possessions. Significantly, of the money raised each year in local communities, 94 per cent remains within the state.

The campaign began November 15 and will continue through December. Do your part by buying seals.

Where Is the Old Hired Man?

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — The hired man began to disappear a generation ago from the American scene, and left a gap in family life that has never quite been filled. There is none to take his place.

The hired man at one time was a neighborhood resource, the poor relation by loyalty but not by blood of a dozen or so families he had adpted.

Any family in the community could ask the hired man to work for them. He generally worked only for the families he chose.

His pay was invariably low. Nobody spoiled him with money. Nobody expected him to brood over the fact his fate was to brush the dust from the welcome mat spread for other feet.

Often he would work for sick people, who having survived local medicine and escaped the local undertaker would victoriously call in the hired man to brighten up the place to make them feel better.

The hired man knew that sick people, getting well, are helped by seeing their belongings in order, the yard clean, the sidewalk swept, brass knocker on the front door brightly polished. It makes them feel they have more of a hold on life.

But the hired man wasn't just a crutch for the sick getting well. He was also a kind of measurement of the wealth of the healthy. He did the jobs they could do themselves but were too busy to do or too proud to do in public.

Actually there wasn't much he couldn't do. But in those days the hired man was generally an outdoor-working man. When he came indoors it was usually to eat in the kitchen.

He didn't work every day because he was a lone man, unmarried and not wanting to be married, always knew, whether he wanted to earn it or not, there was a welcome for him in many kitchens.

Most wives were glad to feed him—and for several reasons. For one thing, he was different from their husbands. He was male and independent as their husbands were, but if he would not obey a woman, he would listen to her, or appear to.

He took his time about his work; nobody could push him there. He would stop and talk to the kids. He would stay in a warm kitchen on a cold day and listen to a wife's complaints as long as she served food or poured coffee. The main thing was he was company.

He wasn't dependable in an emergency, because he didn't live by your emergency. But when he was actually there he was as dependable as your need required. He could stop a leaking faucet, coax a reluctant handle of a bathroom fixture back into action, even weed gardens where he planted nothing himself.

Whatever happened to the old-fashioned hired man?

He specialized. Today one hired man is hired to fix the television set. Another hired man is hired to fix one part of the plumbing, and still another to meet another plumbing problem.

A fourth hired man can repair short circuits and is an authority on light bulbs, up to 100 watts.

We Must Know More than Science

By George Sokolsky

An advantage that the Russians have over us is that their scientists stick to science and do not attempt to play politics.

It is so, of course, in every slave society and I am not advocating slavery of the mind or of the body for us.

Nevertheless, we have faced in this country the political unpleasantness of the men who are capable of making the instruments of war, speaking their consciences against the use of these instruments. For instance, the American Assn. of Scientific Workers has become the vocal expression of opposition to the testing of weapons which to the laymen would appear to be essential if we are to have any improvement in weapons.

Many factors caused our delay in experimentation which gave the Russians the propagandistic advantage of launching two Sputniks before we launched one, not the least of which has been the emotional opposition of some scientists of importance to testing atom and hydrogen bombs. Big names were signed to petitions against testing.

On the other hand, the scientist is essential to the development of our defenses. Today, he is more essential than the military officer who commands men. For the current war preparations are being developed in laboratories and testing grounds and in universities.

MIT, Cal Tech and such schools may be as significant in the future as West Point and Annapolis, if not more so.

The cry for more and more scientists is a bit hysterical. It is not the quantity of scientists and engineers that counts; it is the quality, the genius, the initiative that matters and we shall have to make every practical sacrifice to keep the really smart men at work. The appointment of Dr. James R. Killian to head up the scientific work of the country is a tremendous step forward.

He ought not to hold the office of a presidential assistant but should be made a Cabinet officer; However, as President Eisenhower has expanded the Cabinet to include administrative assistants, it may make no actual difference what Dr. Killian's title is, as long as he is permitted to do his work.

There is another side to this problem. Intelligence is not limited to science. History, philosophy, literature—in a word, what are called the Humanities—must not be neglected. Scientists often are so over specialized that when they discuss general subjects, they seem to be unrealistic and impractical. Our educational system, as varied as it is, has failed in breadth because it has emphasized detail.

During recent years, the leading universities have insisted upon compulsory courses in contemporary civilization and the humanities. I have read some of the books used in contemporary civilization courses and I must say that a tremendous mass of indigestible nonsense is hurled at the young mind, particularly in the selective readings in sociology and politics.

In the great books courses, it is different. In those courses, what is read is fundamental and develops the mind.

What every man needs to know is that life did not start yesterday; that what happens today has a long past. Civilization is like an underground river that surfaces here and there and we think of those surfacings as springs or oases in the endless desert of time.

What Wang An-Shih tried to do in China in the Eleventh century, Franklin D. Roosevelt attempted in the United States in the Twentieth.

The tools were different; the environments were different; the challenges were identical and produced identical results.

It is only the long balanced view of history that can safeguard the mind from snap decisions and meaningless generalities. The weakness of Karl Marx was that his knowledge of history, while obviously the result of much reading, was not profound nor adequately generalized.

Marx knew nothing about the curious phenomenon that the United States presented at the moment of his writing, a country that definitely was exceptional to all his biases. Had he known of this, he would have been forced to modify some of his views, particularly about a classless society.

Unless there is a broad knowledge of history and philosophy, there can be no sound appraisal of the events that occur. Despite each generation's assumption that it alone knows the truth, history and philosophy can still give it that breadth and vision which can protect it from the errors of quick assumptions.

Try and Stop Me

BIGGEST GROSS for an animal act at a midwestern carnival was rung up by a novelty: a tiger and a sheep performing tricks in the same cage.

"Amazing," commented a visitor. "Do those oddly assorted creatures always get along so amiably together?"

"They do have a bit of a dust-up every now and then," admitted the trainer, "but we don't let that bother us. We just buy a new sheep."

There was a vaudevillian in the good old days who never lacked for work. Why? He was a clay modeler, and an absolutely fool-proof "audience chaser." Crowds poured out of the theater the minute he began his act—which made room for new ticket buyers waiting to get in!

Medicine Can Ease Pain from Cancer

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Saving lives is a doctor's main job. Yet he still must use all his medical skill and all the human kindness at his command when treating persons he knows he cannot save.

With all the modern drugs we have available today, a doctor never is helpless. There's always something he can do, even if it is merely to relieve pain or instill a note of hope in a patient or his family, for the time being at least.

Advanced cases of cancer, for example, usually will be fatal unless the entire malignant tumor can be removed. If this is impossible, a doctor just doesn't abandon the patient as hopeless. As a matter of fact, quite frequently it is cases such as these which tax a physician's ingenuity.

If radiation will do any good, it should be tried by all means. Often it can relieve pain, or shrink the tumor, thereby reducing pressure.

In some cases, such as the cervical cancer, radiation may even provide a permanent cure.

There are any number of drugs which might be tried. Among the chemical agents doctors often use are nitrogen mustard, myleran, Fowler's solution, triethylenemelamine and triethylenethiphosphoramide.

Also there are the two purine antagonists, urethane and mercaptopurine, and the folic acid antagonists, aminopterin and amethopterin.

ACTH and cortisone also may be valuable aids in treating a cancer patient. Not only do they often have a direct effect upon the tumor cells, but they also alleviate undesirable side effects of some of the other drugs.

Now these chemical compounds won't help all cases of cancer. In fact, they are most often employed in treating lymphomas and leukemias. Myleran, for instance, gives hope of lengthening life in cases of myelogenous leukemia.

There's one thing I want all of you to remember:

Today, advanced cases of cancer may seem to be hopeless. But tomorrow we may have the cure.

We'll get it some day. Who can tell when it will be?

QUESTION AND ANSWER

K. V.: My 12-year-old daughter has a great deal of hair on her upper lip and arms. How do you recommend it be removed?

Answer: Usually, it is best to withhold treatment with electrolysis until puberty is reached. The child probably can be helped by bleaching the hairs or by rubbing them with fine pumice stone or with sandpaper made for this purpose.

The Nation Today

James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — We're getting self-conscious.

We've been busting our buttons —talking and performing—to show how strong we are ever since Russia fired the Sputniks.

But we didn't have the right muscles at the right time. The Russians won a propaganda victory.

Allies and neutrals were left with visions of Russian missiles and hydrogen warheads dropping in their flowerpots.

Something had to be done to reassure friends, warn foes. A whole batch of statements and performances followed, none as spectacular as Sputnik.

Last Wednesday Gen. Curtis LeMay, vice chief of staff of the Air Force, captained a jet-tanker nonstop from Massachusetts to Argentina without refueling, a record of over 6,000 miles. After a rest, he flew it back to Washington, also nonstop.

That same day three jet-bombers flew 6,000 miles from California to the Philippines, nonstop but with refueling.

Over the weekend six B52 bombers flew nonstop from Florida to Argentina and—without landing but with refueling—flew back to upstate New York.

Meanwhile, the Defense Department announced the Navy was being equipped with atomic depth bombs, said it had shot off various kinds of missiles, and told of breaking an altitude record with a rocket.

All this illustrated President Eisenhower's talk to the nation two weeks ago, a talk in which he said he would give the "rough" with the "smooth." There was more of the smooth than the rough.

He said, with examples, this country had developed a family of missiles, with some 38 different types either in operation or under development.

In some instances he's been accused of overstating his case.

While Russia is claiming development of a missile that can span an ocean and a continent, this country has surrounded Russia with air bases and now is suggesting bases from which intermediate range missiles can be fired, if they have the missiles.

The United States has no intercontinental ballistic missile yet. But Eisenhower said because of these bases those shorter range missiles are in some cases as good as the other kind.

PAINTS BLOOD VESSELS — A Boston surgeon, Dr. Bertram Selverstone, has developed a two-coat "paint job" to add strength to weakened blood vessels of the brain. The first coat, applied with a modified artist's air brush, is a type of latex. The second, of plastic, is applied with surgical instruments. Tests show the coated vessels can stand pressures 10 times normal. (International)

Baldwin-Wallace Delays FM Start

CLEVELAND (AP)—Baldwin-Wallace College's new FM radio station WBWC, which was to have started test broadcasts Sunday, won't go on the air until after Thanksgiving, the school announced.

A misunderstanding of Federal Communications Commission regulations is given as the reason for the changed plans. The 10-watt station, operating on 88.3 megacycles, will be heard within 10 miles of the suburban Berea campus.

Telephone Union Hearing Continues

CLEVELAND (AP) — Arguments resume in Federal Court today on an injunction requested by the Communications Workers of American to make Ohio Bell Telephone Co. comply with terms of a contract worked out during a strike which ended Oct. 1.

Ohio Bell has refused to sign the contract until CWA signs a strike termination agreement. The union has refused. The contract calls for pay raises from $2.50 to $5 weekly.

Many factors caused our delay in experimentation which gave the Russians the propagandistic advantage of launching two Sputniks before we launched one, not the least of which has been the emotional opposition of some scientists of importance to testing atom and hydrogen bombs. Big names were signed to petitions against testing.

On the other hand, the scientist is essential to the development of our defenses. Today, he is more essential than the military officer who commands men. For the current war preparations are being developed in laboratories and testing grounds and in universities.

MIT, Cal Tech and such schools may be as significant in the future as West Point and Annapolis, if not more so.

The cry for more and more scientists is a bit hysterical. It is not the quantity of scientists and engineers that counts; it is the quality, the genius, the initiative that matters and we shall have to make every practical sacrifice to keep the really smart men at work. The appointment of Dr. James R. Killian to head up the scientific work of the country is a tremendous step forward.

He ought not to hold the office of a presidential assistant but should be made a Cabinet officer; However, as President Eisenhower has expanded the Cabinet to include administrative assistants, it may make no actual difference what Dr. Killian's title is, as long as he is permitted to do his work.

There is another side to this problem. Intelligence is not limited to science. History, philosophy, literature—in a word, what are called the Humanities—must not be neglected. Scientists often are so over specialized that when they discuss general subjects, they seem to be unrealistic and impractical. Our educational system, as varied as it is, has failed in breadth because it has emphasized detail.

During recent years, the leading universities have insisted upon compulsory courses in contemporary civilization and the humanities. I have read some of the books used in contemporary civilization courses and I must say that a tremendous mass of indigestible nonsense is hurled at the young mind, particularly in the selective readings in sociology and politics.

In the great books courses, it is different. In those courses, what is read is fundamental and develops the mind.

What every man needs to know is that life did not start yesterday; that what happens today has a long past. Civilization is like an underground river that surfaces here and there and we think of those surfacings as springs or oases in the endless desert of time.

What Wang An-Shih tried to do in China in the Eleventh century, Franklin D. Roosevelt attempted in the United States in the Twentieth.

The tools were different; the environments were different; the challenges were identical and produced identical results.

It is only the long balanced view of history that can safeguard the mind from snap decisions and meaningless generalities. The weakness of Karl Marx was that his knowledge of history, while obviously the result of much reading, was not profound nor adequately generalized.

Marx knew nothing about the curious phenomenon that the United States presented at the moment of his writing, a country that definitely was exceptional to all his biases. Had he known of this, he would have been forced to modify some of his views, particularly about a classless society.

Unless there is a broad knowledge of history and philosophy, there can be no sound appraisal of the events that occur. Despite each generation's assumption that it alone knows the truth, history and philosophy can still give it that breadth and vision which can protect it from the errors of quick assumptions.

Car Hits Frisco House 7th Time

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—For the seventh time in recent years, a car smashed into Jim Donnelly's house Sunday.

"This is getting monotonous," gumbled Donnelly as he eyed a cracked foundation.

His home is on Hattie Street. Cars hitting a traffic island on upper Market Street slant into it.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

BIGGEST GROSS for an animal act at a midwestern carnival was rung up by a novelty: a tiger and a sheep performing tricks in the same cage.

"Amazing," commented a visitor. "Do those oddly assorted creatures always get along so amiably together?"

"They do have a bit of a dust-up every now and then," admitted the trainer, "but we don't let that bother us. We just buy a new sheep."

There was a vaudevillian in the good old days who never lacked for work. Why? He was a clay modeler, and an absolutely fool-proof "audience chaser." Crowds poured out of the theater the minute he began his act—which made room for new ticket buyers waiting to get in!

Medicine Can Ease Pain from Cancer

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Saving lives is a doctor's main job. Yet he still must use all his medical skill and all the human kindness at his command when treating persons he knows he cannot save.

With all the modern drugs we have available today, a doctor never is helpless. There's always something he can do, even if it is merely to relieve pain or instill a note of hope in a patient or his family, for the time being at least.

Advanced cases of cancer, for example, usually will be fatal unless the entire malignant tumor can be removed. If this is impossible, a doctor just doesn't abandon the patient as hopeless. As a matter of fact, quite frequently it is cases such as these which tax a physician's ingenuity.

If radiation will do any good, it should be tried by all means. Often it can relieve pain, or shrink the tumor, thereby reducing pressure.

In some cases, such as the cervical cancer, radiation may even provide a permanent cure.

There are any number of drugs which might be tried. Among the chemical agents doctors often use are nitrogen mustard, myleran, Fowler's solution, triethylenemelamine and triethylenethiphosphoramide.

Also there are the two purine antagonists, urethane and mercaptopurine, and the folic acid antagonists, aminopterin and amethopterin.

ACTH and cortisone also may be valuable aids in treating a cancer patient. Not only do they often have a direct effect upon the tumor cells, but they also alleviate undesirable side effects of some of the other drugs.

Now these chemical compounds won't help all cases of cancer. In fact, they are most often employed in treating lymphomas and leukemias. Myleran, for instance, gives hope of lengthening life in cases of myelogenous leukemia.

There's one thing I want all of you to remember:

Today, advanced cases of cancer may seem to be hopeless. But tomorrow we may have the cure.

We'll get it some day. Who can tell when it will be?

QUESTION AND ANSWER

K. V.: My 12-year-old daughter has a great deal of hair on her upper lip and arms. How do you recommend it be removed?

Answer: Usually, it is best to withhold treatment with electrolysis until puberty is reached. The child probably can be helped by bleaching the hairs or by rubbing them with fine pumice stone or with sandpaper made for this purpose.

You're Telling Me

You can start being thankful right now—well ahead of Thanksgiving Day. The news is just out that this year's American crop of turkeys will be a record bumper one.

Most farm houses in the U. S. were built 50 or more years ago —Factographs. Didn't realize the old homestead was that old!

Sputnik I is losing altitude and soon may land—news item. Might as well—can't compete in interest with that newer one with the dog inside it.

Meanwhile, a Michigan dog officer has issued a warrant for Laika, the Soviet satellite pooch, for traveling above that state without a dog license. Wonder how he figures to make an arrest?

Thomas Jefferson invented the swivel chair—historical item. However, his career proves he didn't spend much time relaxing in it.

The first horseless carriage appeared on the streets of Germany as far back as 1649. What did they call it—an Otto?

It has now been determined that the Greenland Ice Cap averages abou. 1,000 feet in thickness. That item would make a lot better reading in torrid July and August than it does now.

More Lebanon Prison Bids Due on Dec. 19

COLUMBUS (AP)—The state will open bids Dec. 19 on the second construction phase of the $12 million reformatory which is being built near Lebanon.

Included will be five cellblocks, a hospital, auditorium-gymnasium and service buildings. The institution will hold 1,500 inmates when it is finished in 1960.

The Nation Today

James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — We're getting self-conscious.

We've been busting our buttons —talking and performing—to show how strong we are ever since Russia fired the Sputniks.

But we didn't have the right muscles at the right time. The Russians won a propaganda victory.

Allies and neutrals were left with visions of Russian missiles and hydrogen warheads dropping in their flowerpots.

Something had to be done to reassure friends, warn foes. A whole batch of statements and performances followed, none as spectacular as Sputnik.

Last Wednesday Gen. Curtis LeMay, vice chief of staff of the Air Force, captained a jet-tanker nonstop from Massachusetts to Argentina without refueling, a record of over 6,000 miles. After a rest, he flew it back to Washington, also nonstop.

That same day three jet-bombers flew 6,000 miles from California to the Philippines, nonstop but with refueling.

Over the weekend six B52 bombers flew nonstop from Florida to Argentina and—without landing but with refueling—flew back to upstate New York.

Meanwhile, the Defense Department announced the Navy was being equipped with atomic depth bombs, said it had shot off various kinds of missiles, and told of breaking an altitude record with a rocket.

All this illustrated President Eisenhower's talk to the nation two weeks ago, a talk in which he said he would give the "rough" with the "smooth." There was more of the smooth than the rough.

He said, with examples, this country had developed a family of missiles, with some 38 different types either in operation or under development.

In some instances he's been accused of overstating his case.

While Russia is claiming development of a missile that can span an ocean and a continent, this country has surrounded Russia with air bases and now is suggesting bases from which intermediate range missiles can be fired, if they have the missiles.

The United States has no intercontinental ballistic missile yet. But Eisenhower said because of these bases those shorter range missiles are in some cases as good as the other kind.

PAINTS BLOOD VESSELS — A Boston surgeon, Dr. Bertram Selverstone, has developed a two-coat "paint job" to add strength to weakened blood vessels of the brain. The first coat, applied with a modified artist's air brush, is a type of latex. The second, of plastic, is applied with surgical instruments. Tests show the coated vessels can stand pressures 10 times normal. (International)

Baldwin-Wallace Delays FM Start

CLEVELAND (AP)—Baldwin-Wallace College's new FM radio station WBWC, which was to have started test broadcasts Sunday, won't go on the air until after Thanksgiving, the school announced.

A misunderstanding of Federal Communications Commission regulations is given as the reason for the changed plans. The 10-watt station, operating on 88.3 megacycles, will be heard within 10 miles of the suburban Berea campus.

Telephone Union Hearing Continues

CLEVELAND (AP) — Arguments resume in Federal Court today on an injunction requested by the Communications Workers of American to make Ohio Bell Telephone Co. comply with terms of a contract worked out during a strike which ended Oct. 1.

Ohio Bell has refused to sign the contract until CWA signs a strike termination agreement. The union has refused. The contract calls for pay raises from $2.50 to $5 weekly.

Out-of-Towner Gives Views Of Current Broadway Shows

By BOB THOMAS

NEW YORK (AP) — An out-of-towner's views of the Broadway shows —

"The Bells Are Ringing" also proves the triumph of personality over material. The book and songs are slight, but Judy Holliday and Sydney Chaplin put the show across with great skill and charm.

"The Cave Dwellers" has been hailed by the critics as William Saroyan at his best. Audiences must wonder. Saroyan has provided the players with some impressively theatrical scenes, but the over-all effect is one of puzzlement.

"Compulsion" is Strong Stuff. A sprawling, unwieldly play about the Loeb-Leopold case, it explores remote reaches of human behavior. The cast is superb, and the material is absorbing, if seldom moving.

"Happy Hunting" presents that rarity — an old-fashioned musical without problems or social significance. It would be inconsequential except for the commanding presence of the musical comedy queen, Ethel Merman.

"Jamaica" takes painless cruise to the Caribbean in the handsome company of Lena Horne and Ricardo Montalban. The leads are in top form, the production is eye-appealing, the story is nothing. But the Harold Arlen score holds it all together.

"Li'l Abner" is a fast, tight musical that presents the comic strip characters in faithful reproduction. What saves the whole thing from being protesque is the pleasant goodwill of the players, especially Peter Palmer, a ringer for the Dogpatch hero.

"Long Day's Journey Into Night" is Eugene O'Neill's rambling reminiscence of his tortured family. Fredric March, Florence Eldridge and Jason Robards make it alive and compelling.

"The Most Happy Fell" offers opera on a Broadway basis. The Frank Loesser score presents top arias which are beautifully sung. As with most operas, the book is inclined to be a bother.

"My Fair Lady" is — well, "My Fair Lady," that's all. Most of the originals are still in the cast and they are sublime, as is the show.

"Tunnel of Love" offers suburban sex played for laughs by Tom Ewell, master of the jiggle, the grin and the sly glance. Pleasant fun.

QUEEN STEPS OUT—Queen Elizabeth II of Great Britain is shown on her arrival at Olympia, London, for a tour of the building exhibition. The Queen's outfit consists of a short hip-length, three-button jacket; straight skirt and a Persian lamb shawl collar and purse-muff. (International)

True Beauty in Women Said Found in 30-50-Year-Olds

Editor's Note: The author of the following article, Kate Hevner Mueller, is chairman of the education committee of the American Association of University Women.

By KATE MUELLER
(For Jane Eads)

Whoever said youth is beauty? Who may be the more lovely to look at, the freshman or her mother?

Youthful beauty is found only in advertisements portraying 20 to 30 year-olds who have been rigidly screened, discreetly made up and coached to look haughty or hearty on demand. Personal human beauty of the durable everyday brand, the glamour that is more than photogenic, is best found among the 30 to 50-year-olds, men and women who know the world and like it, know their own personalities and respect them.

How did they learn this? The easiest and certainly the pleasantest way is to stay in school and college as long as possible and study not only for a vocation or profession but for the whole way of life that goes with that profession. This means preparing for leisure, those long 2½-day-weekends which may soon become the 3-or 3½-day weekends; for our higher standards of living with travel, music, theater, sports; for the harnessing of science to personal benefit in health and nutrition; for leadership in government, in the community, in the world.

We used to call this kind of education "liberal" and reserve it for the leisure classes, and it took on a kind of snobbish, ivory tower quality that marked it for the dilettante: But the 1950s have called it our most useful education and earmarked it for all. It is the systematic study of economics, languages, the arts, psychology, science and of the history, theory and understanding of these things. For in our society it is only the educated man or woman who grows more interesting, more attractive, more vibrant year by year, who carries the firm step and bright eye of his school years right on through to as many adventurous decades as modern life may give him.

Out-of-Towner Gives Views Of Current Broadway Shows

By BOB THOMAS

NEW YORK (AP) — An out-of-towner's views of the Broadway shows —

"The Bells Are Ringing" also proves the triumph of personality over material. The book and songs are slight, but Judy Holliday and Sydney Chaplin put the show across with great skill and charm.

"The Cave Dwellers" has been hailed by the critics as William Saroyan at his best. Audiences must wonder. Saroyan has provided the players with some impressively theatrical scenes, but the over-all effect is one of puzzlement.

"Compulsion" is Strong Stuff. A sprawling, unwieldly play about the Loeb-Leopold case, it explores remote reaches of human behavior. The cast is superb, and the material is absorbing, if seldom moving.

"Happy Hunting" presents that rarity — an old-fashioned musical without problems or social significance. It would be inconsequential except for the commanding presence of the musical comedy queen, Ethel Merman.

"Jamaica" takes painless cruise to the Caribbean in the handsome company of Lena Horne and Ricardo Montalban. The leads are in top form, the production is eye-appealing, the story is nothing. But the Harold Arlen score holds it all together.

"Li'l Abner" is a fast, tight musical that presents the comic strip characters in faithful reproduction. What saves the whole thing from being protesque is the pleasant goodwill of the players, especially Peter Palmer, a ringer for the Dogpatch hero.

"Long Day's Journey Into Night" is Eugene O'Neill's rambling reminiscence of his tortured family. Fredric March, Florence Eldridge and Jason Robards make it alive and compelling.

"The Most Happy Fell" offers opera on a Broadway basis. The Frank Loesser score presents top arias which are beautifully sung. As with most operas, the book is inclined to be a bother.

"My Fair Lady" is — well, "My Fair Lady," that's all. Most of the originals are still in the cast and they are sublime, as is the show.

"Tunnel of Love" offers suburban sex played for laughs by Tom Ewell, master of the jiggle, the grin and the sly glance. Pleasant fun.

QUEEN STEPS OUT—Queen Elizabeth II of Great Britain is shown on her arrival at Olympia, London, for a tour of the building exhibition. The Queen's outfit consists of a short hip-length, three-button jacket; straight skirt and a Persian lamb shawl collar and purse-muff. (International)

True Beauty in Women Said Found in 30-50-Year-Olds

Editor's Note: The author of the following article, Kate Hevner Mueller, is chairman of the education committee of the American Association of University Women.

By KATE MUELLER
(For Jane Eads)

Whoever said youth is beauty? Who may be the more lovely to look at, the freshman or her mother?

Youthful beauty is found only in advertisements portraying 20 to 30 year-olds who have been rigidly screened, discreetly made up and coached to look haughty or hearty on demand. Personal human beauty of the durable everyday brand, the glamour that is more than photogenic, is best found among the 30 to 50-year-olds, men and women who know the world and like it, know their own personalities and respect them.

How did they learn this? The easiest and certainly the pleasantest way is to stay in school and college as long as possible and study not only for a vocation or profession but for the whole way of life that goes with that profession. This means preparing for leisure, those long 2½-day-weekends which may soon become the 3-or 3½-day weekends; for our higher standards of living with travel, music, theater, sports; for the harnessing of science to personal benefit in health and nutrition; for leadership in government, in the community, in the world.

We used to call this kind of education "liberal" and reserve it for the leisure classes, and it took on a kind of snobbish, ivory tower quality that marked it for the dilettante. But the 1950s have called it our most useful education and earmarked it for all. It is the systematic study of economics, languages, the arts, psychology, science and of the history, theory and understanding of these things. For in our society it is only the educated man or woman who grows more interesting, more attractive, more vibrant year by year, who carries the firm step and bright eye of his school years right on through to as many adventurous decades as modern life may give him.

Tennessee Ernie Loses Some Purties

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Tennessee Ernie Ford and his wife lost $6,000 in jewels and furs to burglars over the weekend, but they figure it could have been worse.

In reporting to police that his house had been thoroughly ransacked while he vacationed in Palm Springs, the TV singing star observed: "They were lookin' for jewelry and stuff like that, but they didn't get much because we was a-wearin' most of our purties."

Sen. Bricker Expected To Announce Soon

Ohio's Aides All Set To Obtain Petitions For His Third Term

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Any suspense that Republican U.S. Sen. John W. Bricker might not seek reelection next year apparently will be dispelled within a few weeks.

"I've been thinking about petitions," he admitted. "Let's see, the filing time for the May primary is next February. Something should be done pretty soon."

Aides said they are ready to give the word, indicating they expect him to seek a third six-year term.

The observations apparently dashed slim hopes of some friends who have urged Bricker to retire from politics after nearly 40 years to head his Columbus law firm, formed after his defeat for vice president in 1944.

Bricker's candidacy will enable Ohio Republicans to field a seasoned team for the 1958 elections. The party now holds every major state office at stake next year as well as 17 of the 23 seats in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Failure of Bricker to run again would signal a wide open fight among several Republicans eager for a chance at the senatorial nomination and give Democrats some hope of beating the winner.

Bricker's vote - getting record causes dismay in the ranks of Democratic strategists seeking a candidate to oppose him.

Word from Toledo, home of Michael V. DiSalle, virtually excludes any prospect that the former federal price controller again might challenge Bricker. Their clash in 1952 produced a varied display of political fireworks but left Di'salle trailing by a margin of 315,000 votes in the election.

DiSalle has been regarded as a more likely prospect to oppose re-election of GOP Gov. C. William O'Neill, who beat him in the 1956 gubernatorial race, if the Toledoan runs for office next year.

Bricker in 1946 defeated James W. Hoffman of Columbus by more than 328,000 votes for senator. In 1944, when Bricker lost the vice presidency, Ohio went Republican by 11,500 votes. That was the first time the Democrats had been stopped in Ohio in a presidential race after the late President Roosevelt first was elected in 1932.

Bricker won his first race for governor in 1938 by 118,000 votes. He was re-elected two years later by 364,000 and again in 1942 by 377,000.

He began his public career as solicitor of Grandview Heights. Also behind him is a term on the Ohio Public Utilities Commission and two as attorney general before he became governor.

Against occasional talk of political retirement are several compelling reasons for returning to Washington.

At 64, Bricker is rising rapidly in senatorial seniority and influence. He ranks 27th among the 98 senators. He is the ranking Republican on the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, second on the Banking and Currency Committee and senior member of the Senate-House Joint Atomic Energy Committee. He also is chairman of the GOP Committee on Committees which assigns members to senate committees.

Additionally, a suspicion that so-called "modern" Republicans are veering from historical principles of his party might make him want to remain as insurance against further shrinkage of the senate conservative bloc which recently lost Sen. William F. Knowland to the California race for governor.

"I am just a Republican and believe in consistency of principles," Bricker said. "I am opposed to foreign expenditures; I don't believe in unnecessary regulation, just in human freedom for the people of this country. There are many things the state's should do themselves and many powers of the federal government should be turned back to them."

Commenting on President Eisenhower's televised address last Wednesday night, Bricker agreed that the United States must remain strong to prevent war. "I have confidence he is doing all that is possible," Bricker said.

Asserting the Russians are preparing for an all-out holocaust, Bricker said "they are putting all into the military without regard to present and future generations. Their people are living poorly and some are starving. But for us, this and future generations are important."

Concerning the president's remarks about education, Bricker said such a program is very important. "It is a problem for the public generally. I was glad to hear him emphasize it."

JHS 'Top Salesmen' Rewarded for Efforts

By NANCY ALLEN

JEFFERSONVILLE—The junior class has just ended its magazine sales with the following results

Top salesman was Vonda Hall selling $120 worth of magazines and receiving a trophy (the stuffed dog which had been carried around by the girl with the most sales each day) and a certificate.

Second was Frank Fodor, who sold -108.30 worth and received trophy (the 8-ball which had been carried around by the boy with the highest sales daily) and a certificate.

Third was John Ritenour, selling $82.87 worth, and receiving a trophy and a certificate.

The following received certificates for sales of $30 or more; Sue McDonald, Charles Cline, Jim Cook, Ronnie Campbell, Kenneth Pettit, Mary Ann Creamer, Hugh Zimmerman, Linda Hamilton, Patty Sears and Sue Stephenson.

Those who sold one or more subscriptions to certain magazines were contestants for a camera, and the winner was Jo Ann West.

The Junior class is now selling, in addition to stationery, pencils with the basketball schedule written on them.

MEMBERS of the Future Teachers Club have been doing substitute teaching in the elementary grades for short periods during the day and reporting the results.

THE F.H.A has purchased a banner and membership pins. The girls in home economics are making fashion books containing various types of clothing in many different styles as well as color schemes. This is all under the direction of Miss Patricia Hooks, our home economics teacher.

MEMBERS of the biology class have just finished making leaf collections and are now studying plants with underground stems and dissecting them to understand more clearly their make-up. Mrs. Rowena Cummins is the instructor.

The physics class of six students has been making accurate weather predictions at the beginning of each day for more than a month now. This is done with the help of the physics teacher, Mr. Karl Kay. They are advancing quite well in their experiments and they have just completed a section on parallel forces and equilibrium. (Incidentally, all of the weather predictions have been correct so far).

A PEP RALLY was held Friday with the coming of our opening basketball game. The newly elected Senior High cheerleaders are: Natalie Allen and Donna Jean Smith, freshmen; Sue McDonald (junior; and Carolyn Yoakum, Linda McClaskie and Betty Jean Coe seniors.

The Junior High team has lost its first two game with South Salem and Midway, respectively. However, the freshman team won its first game which was played against Madison South.

IN THE MUSIC department things have been happening very rapidly and, needless to say, keeping all the participants busy. The operetta was considered a success by all who saw it, and the idea was so well-liked that another operetta is being seriously considered for next year. The band is scheduled to play for the PTC meeting on Nov. 21 and a very interesting program is being planned.

Music will be played starting from the beginnings of early American songs, and going right up to the modern music of today. The chorus is slated to sing at the PTC meeting of Jan. 16, but no definite plans have been made for that program as yet.

Local Pastors To Join Parley On Citizenship

The Rev. L. J. Poe, pastor, and the Rev. Perry Grimm visiting pastor, both of Grace Methodist Church, will attend the Christian Citizenship Conference in Columbus, Saturday. Representatives of all Ohio Methodist churches will attend the one-day conference to be held at the North Broadway Methodist Church. Announced purpose of the conference is an inquiry into the relation of the Christian religion to behavior.

The statewide meeting is being sponsored by Bishop Hazen G. Werner, and the Boards of World Peace, Temperance and Social and Economic Relations of the two Methodist conferences of Ohio.

• • •

PRINCIPAL addresses will be made during the meeting by Andrew W. Cordier, native Ohioan who serves as executive assistant to the secretary general of the United Nations; Dr. Dan Dodson, head of the department of Human Relations at New York University; Dr. Glenn Sanberg, executive vice president of the American Society of Association Executives; and Bishop Werner. At two periods in the day's program discussion groups will be conducted in the agres of race, world peace, temperance, gambling, politics, business ethics, juvenile delinquency, and Sabbath observance.

Dr. Theodore C. Mayer, First Methodist Church, Warren, and Dr. Lance Webb, North Broadway Methodist Church, Columbus, are serving as co-chairmen of the meeting. They have announced that the plan of the conference includes follow-up meetings in every Methodist district and church in the state in order that the implications of religion for living today may be felt in the life of every individual Methodist in Ohio

Greenfield Names Consultant for School Expansion

GREENFIELD — The Greenfield Board of Education has engaged Dr. Willis Whitehead, Cleveland, an educational consultant, to assist with planning a new school building program.

The Wilknit Hosiery Co. Inc., will pay the entire cost of his services.

A proposed $775,000 bond issue for two new buildings and repair of existing buildings was defeated at the Nov. 5 election.

Lowell Wilkin, president of the hosiery concern and also a member of the school board, said many persons in the school district feel a bond issue should again be submitted to the voters, and a new program should be planned with the counsel of qualified and trained people.

Dr. Whitehead has advised the board that he will visit schools late this month.

Business Notes

The most powerful tractors ever built by Ford Motor Company are now on display at Fayette County Farm Bureau, according to Wayne Hagan, manager of Farm Supply Division.

New Ford tractors in the "three-four plow" Powermaster class have 10 per cent more drawbar horsepower than formerly, while the "two-three plow" Workmaster tractors are 8 per cent more powerful, Hagan said.

There are a total of 12 models of the new tractors.

In addition to their higher power, the new Ford tractors feature a newly designed front grille, distinctive color styling, improved fender design, brighter headlights for field work and highway safety, greater gas tank capacity, and restyled instrument panel with electric fuel gauge, Hagan added.

Sen. Bricker Expected To Announce Soon

Ohio's Aides All Set To Obtain Petitions For His Third Term

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Any suspense that Republican U.S. Sen. John W. Bricker might not seek reelection next year apparently will be dispelled within a few weeks.

"I've been thinking about petitions," he admitted. "Let's see, the filing time for the May primary is next February. Something should be done pretty soon."

Aides said they are ready to give the word, indicating they expect him to seek a third six-year term.

The observations apparently dashed slim hopes of some friends who have urged Bricker to retire from politics after nearly 40 years to head his Columbus law firm, formed after his defeat for vice president in 1944.

Bricker's candidacy will enable Ohio Republicans to field a seasoned team for the 1958 elections. The party now holds every major state office at stake next year as well as 17 of the 23 seats in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Failure of Bricker to run again would signal a wide open fight among several Republicans eager for a chance at the senatorial nomination and give Democrats some hope of beating the winner.

Bricker's vote - getting record causes dismay in the ranks of Democratic strategists seeking a candidate to oppose him.

Word from Toledo, home of Michael V. DiSalle, virtually excludes any prospect that the former federal price controller again might challenge Bricker. Their clash in 1952 produced a varied display of political fireworks but left Di'salle trailing by a margin of 315,000 votes in the election.

DiSalle has been regarded as a more likely prospect to oppose re-election of GOP Gov. C. William O'Neill, who beat him in the 1956 gubernatorial race, if the Toledoan runs for office next year.

Bricker in 1946 defeated James W. Hoffman of Columbus by more than 328,000 votes for senator. In 1944, when Bricker lost the vice presidency, Ohio went Republican by 11,500 votes. That was the first time the Democrats had been stopped in Ohio in a presidential race after the late President Roosevelt first was elected in 1932.

Bricker won his first race for governor in 1938 by 118,000 votes. He was re-elected two years later by 364,000 and again in 1942 by 377,000.

He began his public career as solicitor of Grandview Heights. Also behind him is a term on the Ohio Public Utilities Commission and two as attorney general before he became governor.

Against occasional talk of political retirement are several compelling reasons for returning to Washington.

At 64, Bricker is rising rapidly in senatorial seniority and influence. He ranks 27th among the 98 senators. He is the ranking Republican on the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, second on the Banking and Currency Committee and senior member of the Senate-House Joint Atomic Energy Committee. He also is chairman of the GOP Committee on Committees which assigns members to senate committees.

Additionally, a suspicion that so-called "modern" Republicans are veering from historical principles of his party might make him want to remain as insurance against further shrinkage of the senate conservative bloc which recently lost Sen. William F. Knowland to the California race for governor.

"I am just a Republican and believe in consistency of principles," Bricker said. "I am opposed to foreign expenditures; I don't believe in unnecessary regulation, just in human freedom for the people of this country. There are many things the state's should do themselves and many powers of the federal government should be turned back to them."

Commenting on President Eisenhower's televised address last Wednesday night, Bricker agreed that the United States must remain strong to prevent war. "I have confidence he is doing all that is possible," Bricker said.

Asserting the Russians are preparing for an all-out holocaust, Bricker said "they are putting all into the military without regard to present and future generations. Their people are living poorly and some are starving. But for us, this and future generations are important."

Concerning the president's remarks about education, Bricker said such a program is very important. "It is a problem for the public generally. I was glad to hear him emphasize it."

JHS 'Top Salesmen' Rewarded for Efforts

By NANCY ALLEN

JEFFERSONVILLE—The junio class has just ended its magazine sales with the following results

Top salesman was Vonda Hall selling $120 worth of magazines and receiving a trophy (the stuffed dog which had been carried around by the girl with the most sales each day) and a certificate.

Second was Frank Fodor, who sold -108.30 worth and received trophy (the 8-ball which had been carried around by the boy with the highest sales daily) and a certificate.

Third was John Ritenour, selling $82.87 worth, and receiving a trophy and a certificate.

The following received certificates for sales of $30 or more; Sue McDonald, Charles Cline, Jim Cook, Ronnie Campbell, Kenneth Pettit, Mary Ann Creamer. Hugh Zimmerman, Linda Hamilton, Patty Sears and Sue Stephenson.

Those who sold one or more subscriptions to certain magazines were contestants for a camera, and the winner was Jo Ann West.

The Junior class is now selling, in addition to stationery, pencils with the basketball schedule written on them.

MEMBERS of the Future Teachers Club have been doing substitute teaching in the elementary grades for short periods during the day and reporting the results.

THE F.H.A has purchased a banner and membership pins. The girls in home economics are making fashion books containing various types of clothing in many different styles as well as color schemes. This is all under the direction of Miss Patricia Hooks, our home economics teacher.

MEMBERS of the biology class have just finished making leaf collections and are now studying plants with underground stems and disecting them to understand more clearly their make-up. Mrs. Rowena Cummins is the instructor.

The physics class of six students has been making accurate weather predictions at the beginning of each day for more than a month now. This is done with the help of the physics teacher, Mr. Karl Kay. They are advancing quite well in their experiments and they have just completed a section on parallel forces and equilibrium. (Incidentally, all of the weather predictions have been correct so far).

A PEP RALLY was held Friday with the coming of our opening basketball game. The newly elected Senior High cheerleaders are: Natalie Allen and Donna Jean Smith, freshmen; Sue McDonald (junior; and Carolyn Yoakum, Linda McClaskie and Betty Jean Coe seniors.

The Junior High team has lost its first two game with South Salem and Midway, respectively. However, the freshman team won its first game which was played against Madison South.

IN THE MUSIC department things have been happening very rapidly and, needless to say, keeping all the participants busy. The operetta was considered a success by all who saw it, and the idea was so well-liked that another operetta is being seriously considered for next year. The band is scheduled to play for the PTC meeting on Nov. 21 and a very interesting program is being planned.

Music will be played starting from the beginnings of early American songs, and going right up to the modern music of today. The chorus is slated to sing at the PTC meeting on Jan. 16, but no definite plans have been made for that program as yet.

Greenfield Names Consultant for School Expansion

GREENFIELD — The Greenfield Board of Education has engaged Dr. Willis Whitehead, Cleveland, an educational consultant, to assist with planning a new school building program.

The Wilknit Hosiery Co. Inc., will pay the entire cost of his services.

A proposed $775,000 bond issue for two new buildings and repair of existing buildings was defeated at the Nov. 5 election.

Lowell Wilkin, president of the hosiery concern and also a member of the school board, said many persons in the school district feel a bond issue should again be submitted to the voters, and a new program should be planned with the counsel of qualified and trained people.

Dr. Whitehead has advised the board that he will visit schools late this month.

Browns-Giants Grid Showdown Looming Ahead

Comebacking Cleveland Squad Gains Tie with Stubborn Redskin '11'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Step by step, Cleveland's comebacking Browns and New York's defending champion Giants are moving straight toward a Dec. 15 showdown for the Eastern Division title in the National Football League.

In the Western Division, it should be so simple!

With the San Francisco 49ers turned to vagrants on the road, Detroit rolling again behind Bobby Layne, Baltimore's Colts apparently back in stride and even the Los Angeles Rams butting into contention, it's anybody's guess in the West.

And there remain only four weeks of the pro season to unscramble the mess.

The mess looks like this after the eighth round of the 12-week NFL season Sunday:

San Francisco, Baltimore and Detroit tied for first place with 5-3 records and Los Angeles a notch behind at 4-4. The Lions, with Layne clicking on 17 of 24 passes in the first half alone, routed San Francisco 31-10, the 49ers second straight whipping on a road trip that will keep them away from home for another two weeks. The Colts, scoring 16 points in the fourth quarter, downed the Chicago (3-5) Bears, 29-14. The revived Rams, down 24-3 at the half, rallied behind vet Norm Van Brocklin and ace rookie Jon Arnett to defeat luckless Green Bay, 31-27.

In the East, the Browns stumbled a bit in a 30-30 tie with Washington but with six victories, a loss and a tie they still hold a half game lead over New York, 6-2 after a 13-0 blanking of Philadelphia. Pittsburgh and Chicago Cardinals were idle, their game having been put back to Dec. 22.

Cleveland came off a 10-point deficit with four minutes left to tie the pesky Redskins. The punchless Eagles outplayed the Giants on the attack, but New York's defense turned back four Philly threats, one that reached to within six inches of the goal line.

Lou Groza's third field goal Sunday afternoon soared between the Washington goal posts from 24 yards out with only 15 seconds to play, deadlocking the score at 30-30.

With six minutes left in the third quarter, the Browns were ahead 13-9. With five minutes remaining in the final quarter, they trailed 30-20.

Washington's little quarterback, Eddie Lebaron credited his backs with "a terrific job" in keeping the Browns' line "from putting much pressure on me."

The 30 points scored Sunday in Washington were the most the crack Cleveland defense has yielded. In two games against Cleveland, the Skins have scored one more point than the total accumulated by Browns' opponents innall six of the other games.

The loss meant Washington can earn no better than a tie for the Eastern Division lead by winning all four remaining games while Cleveland and the New York Giants each lose four. The Giants, by mathematically eliminating the Philadelphia Eagles from the division race, pulled within a half game of the Browns.

In rushing, the Redskins outgained the Browns 153 yards net to 82. But Tommy O'Connell's kept Cleveland in the game. He completed six to Pete Brewster for 99 years, four to Ray Renfro for 113 and six to Preston Carpenter for 112. Lebaron hit on seven of 10 for 177 net yards.

Groza field goals started and ended the scoring. He connected from 19, 35 and 24 yards to run his season total of field goals to 11. The halftime gun sounded as he was getting ready to try another from what for him was easy range.

End Bill Quinlan blocked Sam Baker's try for Washington's first point after touchdown — and a mighty important point. A 13-yard Lebaron to Johnny Carson pass and a 15-yard roughing the passer penalty were the key gains in that touchdown drive. Leo Elter carried over from the 4.

Elter also scored Washington's second TD, dashing 18 yards to cap a seven-play, 80-yard march in the third quarter.

The Browns' first touchdown followed Baker's 25-yard field goal, which gave Washington a 9-3 second quarter lead. Chet Hanulak scooted across from nine yards out on a pitchout. The big play of that second period march was a 51-yard O'Connell-Renfro pass.

The Redskins took a 23-13 third quarter lead when Norb Hecker intercepted an O'Connell pass and carried 20 yards to the Browns' 44. A 38-yard Lebaron toss to Tom Braatz set the stage for rookie Don Bosseler's two-yard plunge for the touchdown.

In the hectic final quarter the Browns drove 63 yards, with 56 coming on four O'Connell passes, including a 10-yard touchdown toss to Brewster. Washington rolled right back over 80 yards after the kickoff. End Steve Meilinger carried the last 33, taking a flip from Lebaron in the flat and shaking off Warren Lahr.

The touchdown that saved the Browns from defeat resulted from a pass that Preston Carpenter batted into the air then caught for a 40-yard gain, and a 22-yard pass that Preston lateraled to Renfro. Renfro took it on first bounce and ran seven yards to score.

Area Cagers Have 8 Games This Week

Basketball fans in this area can see their favorites in action this week in eight games, but they'll have to follow the teams to other towns to see all but one of them.

The one home game will be at New Holland, where the Bulldogs tangle with the boys from Walnut Township High School in Pickaway County League game on Friday.

Only one other game that will be played in the county, but it will not be on the home court of the host team. Jeffersonville's Tigers are to meet the Clarksville cagers Tuesday in what is a "Home game" on the schedule, but it will be played on the Bloomingburg floor, because the gym is bigger.

In other games booked for this week:

Madison Mills' Warriors will play at Kingston on Thursday and Buckskin at South Salem on Friday;

Bloomingburg's Bulldogs will play at Twin Rural in Ross County on Friday;

Jeffersonville's Tigers, who meet the Clarksville outfit at Bloomingburg Tuesday, will go to Sabina on Saturday;

Good Hope's Mad Anthonys will play at Fairfield High School at Leesburg Tuesday and at Bainbridge on Friday.

The Lions of Washington C. H. High School will not start their basketball schedule until Nov. 29. when they take on the Lions from Bexley High School.

• • •

TWO OF THE FOUR Fayette County High School teams opened their seasons with victories. The Jeffersonville Tigers, who have played only one game, edged out Bowersville last Friday night 69 to 68 in a thriller, and Bloomingburg's Bulldogs swamped Simon Kenton's cagers, 51 to 37, in their opener on Nov. 1.

New Holland's Bulldogs whose home town straddles the Fayette-Pickaway County line, also won their opener when they trounced the Warriors from Madison Mills, 57-31.

Good Hope's Mad Anthonys lost their opener to Salt Creek, 69-46, but came right back to smother Atlanta, 64 to 43, three days later.

With the season just getting under way, Jeffersonville and Bloomingburg appear to be the top contenders for the county championship this year. Bloomingburg has a record of three wins and one loss; Jeffersonville has won its only game to date; Good Hope has won one and lost two and Madison Mills has lost both of its games. New Holland has won two and lost one.

Midwest College Cage Pairings Announced

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP)—Pairings for the annual Midwest Basketball Tournament at Indiana State Dec. 26-28 were announced Sunday.

The games, all to start at 7 p.m. EST, will be Indiana Central vs. Capital University, Baldwin-Wallace vs. Bellarmine, Indiana State vs. North Central of Illinois and Franklin vs. Morningside.

ON TO THE ROSE BOWL -- Bob White, Ohio State fullback is halted momentarily by Hawkeye fullback, John Nocera (33) and another Iowa defender on his back, on Iowa's five yard-line. White, however, went the five yards the hard way, taking with him the two Hawkeye hitchhikers, to score the winning touchdown, as Ohio defeated Iowa, 17-to-13. The victory, before a crowd of 82,935 at Columbus, gave the Buckeyes the Western Conference championship and the Rose Bowl bid.

Emswiler To Get Briefing On 'Fast Whistle' Friday

Although it is too late to make a formal protest, Coach Fred Domenico said Monday will "call to the attention of the Mr. Emswiler (H. W. Emswiler, Ohio High School Athletic Assn. commissioner)" two incidents which occurred in the Washington C. H.- Wilmington football game here last Friday night.

Decision to write to the commissioner, Domenico said, was reached after he and the other members of the WHS coaching staff studied the movies of the game Saturday night and again Sunday.

The movies, he said, how that Roger McLean, on a punt return, had not been stopped on about the 20-yard line when the whistle was blown to end the play. (He did not say for certain which of the officials blew what he termed a "fast whistle." This incident occurred in the third period.

• • •

McLEAN had broken through and was in the clear, Domenico said, when he was called back. There was no doubt in Domenico's mind that he would not have gone all the way for a touchdown.

Incidentally, a loud chorus of boos went up from the Lion partisans when the play was stopped.

The other "incident" was the point after the second Wilmington touchdown awarded to Micky Vanscoy in the second period.

Domenico contends that Vanscoy, who was running left end for the extra point, was halted short of the goal line by Gil Crouse, but that he spun after his forward motion stopped and went on over the goal line after Crouse had released his hold.

• • •

DOMENICO SAID that he was too far away from the scene of action to make a formal protest during the game. A protest during the game, he explained, is a prerequisite.

Officials for the game were Paul Wyman, referee, Columbus; Russell Wright, umpire, Chillicothe, and John Roan, head linesman, Chillicothe.

Domenico said he expected no official action from the commissioner, but that the letter was written "just so he will know what took place."

The Wilmington victory gave the Hurricane second place in the Southcentral Ohio (SWO) League behind Greenfield's Tigers and the defeat put the Lions of WHS in third place.

The championship will be formally awarded to Greenfield at Wednesday night's league meeting in the high school here.

COACHES, who will attend the meeting with officials of the five league schools, will select the 1958 SCO All-Star team.

Routine business also will be taken up by coaches and officials of the SCO schools.

The Boosters Club meeting has been advanced from the regular Wednesday meeting night to Tuesday night, Coach Domenico said. Movies of the Wilmington game will be shown then to the Boosters

Tonight (Monday) the WHS alumni who want to play in the game here Thanksgiving Day are to meet in the field house at Gardner Park at 7 o'clock and after this meeting officials and coaches of the Pony League are to get together there at 9 o'clock.

Thursday night, the mothers of the Lions are to hold their third and last meeting in the field house.

Buckeyes Win Big Ten Title, Trip to Roses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Buckeyes of Ohio State are once again champions of the Big Ten and will meet Oregon in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day.

Ohio State, in winning its third title in four years, unveiled a sophomore pile driver who proved the difference in a 17-13 triumph over Iowa.

Bob White, who had played mostly on defense, took over for Ohio State and gained 157 yards in 22 carries to turn the tide. White picked up 65 yards in a 68-yard final drive which brought the Buckeyes from behind a 13-10 count to a title-clinching victory.

In the final analysis, it was Iowa's mistakes that contributed heavily to the Buckeye cause. The Hawkeyes lost the ball three times on fumbles and three times on pass interceptions.

While Ohio State was squeezing past Iowa, Michigan State trampled Minnesota, 42-13; Michigan bounced Indiana, 27-13 ;Wisconsin dropped Illinois, 24-13; and Purdue hit Northwestern, 27-0.

With little at stake this week, Ohio State (6-0) will be at Michigan (3-2-1), Northwestern (0-6) is at Illinois (2-4), Purdue (3-3) goes to Indiana (0-5) in a classic rivalry, Wisconsin (3-3) is at Minnesota (3-4), Iowa (4-1-1) journeys to Notre Dame and Kansas State is at Michigan State (5-1).

Michigan Said 'Whistle Stop' For Buckeyes

COLUMBUS (AP)—For the first time in 54 meetings, Ohio State's grid game with Michigan next Saturday will be just a whistle stop on the Buckeye Crosscountry dash to the Rose Bowl.

The wily Wolverines, most honored foe of the newly - crowned Big Ten champions, have beaten the Bucks 34 times against 15 losses and four ties. Ohio has beaten Michigan at Ann Arbor only once since the late Francis Schmidt's 1937 team did it.

Many, many times the two teams have come up to the final game with the championship hanging in the balance for one or the other. But this time it's all settled.

Ohio State grabbed everything Saturday—its 11th Western Conference crown, its third title in four years, and its fourth Rose Bowl trip—by coming from behind in the last four minutes Saturday to dethrone Iowa 17-13.

That puts the Michigan game, to everyone except coach Woody Hayes and his stalwarts, in the "just another contest" category. Woody wants this one for his 24th Big Ten victory in 26 starts, to avenge last year's 19-0 loss, and to carry a clean league record to Pasadena for the Rose Bowl battle with Coach Len Casanova's twice-beaten Oregon Webfoots.

Robinson Doffs His U. S. Marine Uniform

CINCINNATI (AP) — Frankie Robinson, star left fielder for the Cincinnati Redlegs, put aside his Marine Corps uniform Saturday to look for a job to tide him over until spring training.

Mustered into the Marines only a few weeks ago, Robinson was discharged Friday at Parris Island, S. C., because of an old arm and shoulder injury.

"I have no added pain," he said. "It's just about the same as it always is," he reported.

Ohio College Teams End Conference Football Cards

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's colleges, having settled their conference championships, have a little interstate competition to wrap up before dropping the curtain on the 1957 campaign.

After winning only four of 12 games against outside teams last weekend, the Buckeye boys are deadlocked for the season's laurels.

They've won 47, lost 47, tied five, and are five points behind in scoring, 1,671 to 1,66. With only three interstate contests to go, the Ohioans must win two to match the 1956 figures.

A year ago the Buckeyes won 49, lost 48 and tied four, but were outscored by 30 points, 1,613 to 1,583. Saturday's games — Ohio State at Michigan, Detroit at Dayton, and Youngstown at Eastern Kentucky—offer the last chance to get ahead.

On the home front, Miami won the Mid-American title with a 5-0-0 record, Bluffton retained its Mid-Ohio loop crown with 5-0-0, John Carroll replaced Wayne as President's Conference king with 3-0-0, and Denison and Wittenberg deadlocked for the Ohio Conference championship with 6-1-0.

Wittenberg lost a 9-7 verdict to Akron in the opening conference contest, and Denison's lost was 17-14 to Heidelberg. Wittenberg sandwiched its six wins between two losses, the Lutherans losing 28-13 to Western Kentucky in Saturday's finale.

Denison continued to roll, however, by 40-14 over Ohio Wesleyan, to take the state-wide lead with 8-1-0 and the high-scoring laurels with 357 points. Bowling Green, shorn of its Mid-American crown with a 6-1-2 season, allowed only 55 points for the defensive honors.

All the state's 35 teams were beaten at least once, and only Case Tech and Wilmington failed to register a victory. Each had one tie, however, and Case came up with the nation's longest scoring run—a 109-yard kick return against Ohio Wesleyan.

Case scored only 38 points in six games for the least potent offense, while Marietta's Pioneers let 294 points trickle across their goal line for the leakiest defense.

Ohio State can tie Denison for the statewide lead at 8-1-0 by defeating Michigan Saturday, adding that to its Big Ten title and the Rose Bowl bid.

Irish-Iowa Grid Tilt Slated on Television

CHICAGO (AP) — The Iowa-Notre Dame football game Saturday at South Bend, will be televised as part of the NCAA series.

NBC will carry the telecast, Western Conference officials announced Sunday.

Notre Dame, which shattered Oklahoma's 47-game winning streak Saturday, will be out to avenge a 48-8 lacing administered by Iowa last year.

The Irish have a 5-2 record this year while the Hawkeyes are 6-1-1 in overall competition.

Rabbit Carries $20 in Teeth

YOUNGSTOWN (AP)—A single shot by a Youngstown rabbit hunter put meat on his dinner table and financed his hunting expedition.

Henry T. Downey lowered his smoking shotgun and went up eagerly to claim his prize. In the rabbit's mouth was a $20 bill, apparently dropped by one of the dozen hunters in the area near New Springfield.

As proof Downey is displaying the bloodstained bill, which has two teeth marks on a folded edge and some rabbit hairs in the blood stains.

Browns-Giants Grid Showdown Looming Ahead

Comebacking Cleveland Squad Gains Tie with Stubborn Redskin '11'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Step by step, Cleveland's comebacking Browns and New York's defending champion Giants are moving straight toward a Dec. 15 showdown for the Eastern Division title in the National Football League.

In the Western Division, it should be so simple!

With the San Francisco 49ers turned to vagrants on the road, Detroit rolling again behind Bobby Layne, Baltimore's Colts apparently back in stride and even the Los Angeles Rams butting into contention, it's anybody's guess in the West.

And there remain only four weeks of the pro season to unscramble the mess.

The mess looks like this after the eighth round of the 12-week NFL season Sunday:

San Francisco, Baltimore and Detroit tied for first place with 5-3 records and Los Angeles a notch behind at 4-4. The Lions, with Layne clicking on 17 of 24 passes in the first half alone, routed San Francisco 31-10, the 49ers second straight whipping on a road trip that will keep them away from home for another two weeks. The Colts, scoring 16 points in the fourth quarter, downed the Chicago (3-5) Bears, 29-14. The revived Rams, down 24-3 at the half, rallied behind vet Norm Van Brocklin and ace rookie Jon Arnett to defeat luckless Green Bay, 31-27.

In the East, the Browns stumbled a bit in a 30-30 tie with Washington but with six victories, a loss and a tie they still hold a half game lead over New York, 6-2 after a 13-0 blanking of Philadelphia. Pittsburgh and Chicago Cardinals were idle, their game having been put back to Dec. 22.

Cleveland came off a 10-point deficit with four minutes left to tie the pesky Redskins. The punchless Eagles outplayed the Giants on the attack, but New York's defense turned back four Philly threats, one that reached to within six inches of the goal line.

Lou Groza's third field goal Sunday afternoon soared between the Washington goal posts from 24 yards out with only 15 seconds to play, deadlocking the score at 30-30.

With six minutes left in the third quarter, the Browns were ahead 13-9. With five minutes remaining in the final quarter, they trailed 30-20.

Washington's little quarterback, Eddie Lebaron credited his backs with "a terrific job" in keeping the Browns' line "from putting much pressure on me."

The 30 points scored Sunday in Washington were the most the crack Cleveland defense has yielded. In two games against Cleveland, the Skins have scored one more point than the total accumulated by Browns' opponents innall six of the other games.

The loss meant Washington can earn no better than a tie for the Eastern Division lead by winning all four remaining games while Cleveland and the New York Giants each lose four. The Giants, by mathematically eliminating the Philadelphia Eagles from the division race, pulled within a half game of the Browns.

In rushing, the Redskins outgained the Browns 153 yards net to 82. But Tommy O'Connell's kept Cleveland in the game. He completed six to Pete Brewster for 99 years, four to Ray Renfro for 113 and six to Preston Carpenter for 112. Lebaron hit on seven of 10 for 177 net yards.

Groza field goals started and ended the scoring. He connected from 19, 35 and 24 yards to run his season total of field goals to 11. The halftime gun sounded as he was getting ready to try another from what for him was easy range.

End Bill Quinlan blocked Sam Baker's try for Washington's first point after touchdown — and a mighty important point. A 13-yard Lebaron to Johnny Carson pass and a 15-yard roughing the passer penalty were the key gains in that touchdown drive. Leo Elter carried over from the 4.

Elter also scored Washington's second TD, dashing 18 yards to cap a seven-play, 80-yard march in the third quarter.

The Browns' first touchdown followed Baker's 25-yard field goal, which gave Washington a 9-3 second quarter lead. Chet Hanulak scooted across from nine yards out on a pitchout. The big play of that second period march was a 51-yard O'Connell-Renfro pass.

The Redskins took a 23-13 third quarter lead when Norb Hecker intercepted an O'Connell pass and carried 20 yards to the Browns' 44. A 38-yard Lebaron toss to Tom Braatz set the stage for rookie Don Bosseler's two-yard plunge for the touchdown.

In the hectic final quarter the Browns drove 63 yards, with 56 coming on four O'Connell passes, including a 10-yard touchdown toss to Brewster. Washington rolled right back over 80 yards after the kickoff. End Steve Meilinger carried the last 33, taking a flip from Lebaron in the flat and shaking off Warren Lahr.

The touchdown that saved the Browns from defeat resulted from a pass that Preston Carpenter batted into the air then caught for a 40-yard gain, and a 22-yard pass that Preston lateraled to Renfro. Renfro took it on first bounce and ran seven yards to score.

Area Cagers Have 8 Games This Week

Basketball fans in this area can see their favorites in action this week in eight games, but they'll have to follow the teams to other towns to see all but one of them.

The one home game will be at New Holland, where the Bulldogs tangle with the boys from Walnut Township High School in Pickaway County League game on Friday.

Only one other game that will be played in the county, but it will not be on the home court of the host team. Jeffersonville's Tigers are to meet the Clarksville cagers Tuesday in what is a "Home game" on the schedule, but it will be played on the Bloomingburg floor, because the gym is bigger.

In other games booked for this week:

Madison Mills' Warriors will play at Kingston on Thursday and Buckskin at South Salem on Friday;

Bloomingburg's Bulldogs will play at Twin Rural in Ross County on Friday;

Jeffersonville's Tigers, who meet the Clarksville outfit at Bloomingburg Tuesday, will go to Sabina on Saturday;

Good Hope's Mad Anthonys will play at Fairfield High School at Leesburg Tuesday and at Bainbridge on Friday.

The Lions of Washington C. H. High School will not start their basketball schedule until Nov. 29, when they take on the Lions from Bexley High School.

• • •

TWO OF THE FOUR Fayette County High School teams opened their seasons with victories. The Jeffersonville Tigers, who have played only one game, edged out Bowersville last Friday night 69 to 68 in a thriller, and Bloomingburg's Bulldogs swamped Simon Kenton's cagers, 51 to 37, in their opener on Nov. 1.

New Holland's Bulldogs whose home town straddles the Fayette-Pickaway County line, also won their opener when they trounced the Warriors from Madison Mills, 57-31.

Good Hope's Mad Anthonys lost their opener to Salt Creek, 69-46, but came right back to smother Atlanta, 64 to 43, three days later.

With the season just getting under way, Jeffersonville and Bloomingburg appear to be the top contenders for the county championship this year. Bloomingburg has a record of three wins and one loss; Jeffersonville has won its only game to date; Good Hope has won one and lost two and Madison Mills has lost both of its games. New Holland has won two and lost one.

Midwest College Cage Pairings Announced

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP)—Pairings for the annual Midwest Basketball Tournament at Indiana State Dec. 26-28 were announced Sunday.

The games, all to start at 7 p.m. EST, will be Indiana Central vs. Capital University, Baldwin-Wallace vs. Bellarmine, Indiana State vs. North Central of Illinois and Franklin vs. Morningside.

ON TO THE ROSE BOWL -- Bob White, Ohio State fullback is halted momentarily by Hawkeye fullback, John Nocera (33) and another Iowa defender on his back, on Iowa's five yard-line. White, however, went the five yards the hard way, taking with him the two Hawkeye hitchhikers, to score the winning touchdown, as Ohio defeated Iowa, 17-to-13. The victory, before a crowd of 82,935 at Columbus, gave the Buckeyes the Western Conference championship and the Rose Bowl bid.

Emswiler To Get Briefing On 'Fast Whistle' Friday

Although it is too late to make a formal protest, Coach Fred Domenico said Monday will "call to the attention of the Mr. Emswiler (H. W. Emswiler, Ohio High School Athletic Assn. commissioner)" two incidents which occurred in the Washington C. H.-Wilmington football game here last Friday night.

Decision to write to the commissioner, Domenico said, was reached after he and the other members of the WHS coaching staff studied the movies of the game Saturday night and again Sunday.

The movies, he said, how that Roger McLean, on a punt return, had not been stopped on about the 20-yard line when the whistle was blown to end the play. (He did not say for certain which of the officials blew what he termed a "fast whistle." This incident occurred in the third period.

• • •

McLEAN had broken through and was in the clear, Domenico said, when he was called back. There was no doubt in Domenico's mind that he would not have gone all the way for a touchdown.

Incidentally, a loud chorus of boos went up from the Lion partisans when the play was stopped.

The other "incident" was the point after the second Wilmington touchdown awarded to Micky Vanscoy in the second period.

Domenico contends that Vanscoy, who was running left end for the extra point, was halted short of the goal line by Gil Crouse, but that he spun after his forward motion stopped and went on over the goal line after Crouse had released his hold.

• • •

DOMENICO SAID that he was too far away from the scene of action to make a formal protest during the game. A protest during the game, he explained, is a prerequisite.

Officials for the game were Paul Wyman, referee, Columbus; Russell Wright, umpire, Chillicothe, and John Roan, head linesman, Chillicothe.

Domenico said he expected no official action from the commissioner, but that the letter was written "just so he will know what took place."

The Wilmington victory gave the Hurricane second place in the Southcentral Ohio (SWO) League behind Greenfield's Tigers and the defeat put the Lions of WHS in third place.

The championship will be formally awarded to Greenfield at Wednesday night's league meeting in the high school here.

COACHES, who will attend the meeting with officials of the five league schools, will select the 1958 SCO All-Star team.

Routine business also will be taken up by coaches and officials of the SCO schools.

The Boosters Club meeting has been advanced from the regular Wednesday meeting night to Tuesday night, Coach Domenico said. Movies of the Wilmington game will be shown then to the Boosters

Tonight (Monday) the WHS alumni who want to play in the game here Thanksgiving Day are to meet in the field house at Gardner Park at 7 o'clock and after this meeting officials and coaches of the Pony League are to get together there at 9 o'clock.

Thursday night, the mothers of the Lions are to hold their third and last meeting in the field house.

Michigan Said 'Whistle Stop' For Buckeyes

COLUMBUS (AP)—For the first time in 54 meetings, Ohio State's grid game with Michigan next Saturday will be just a whistle stop on the Buckeye Crosscountry dash to the Rose Bowl.

The wily Wolverines, most honored foe of the newly - crowned Big Ten champions, have beaten the Bucks 34 times against 15 losses and four ties. Ohio has beaten Michigan at Ann Arbor only once since the late Francis Schmidt's 1937 team did it.

Many, many times the two teams have come up to the final game with the championship hanging in the balance for one or the other. But this time it's all settled.

Ohio State grabbed everything Saturday—its 11th Western Conference crown, its third title in four years, and its fourth Rose Bowl trip—by coming from behind in the last four minutes Saturday to dethrone Iowa 17-13.

That puts the Michigan game, to everyone except coach Woody Hayes and his stalwarts, in the "just another contest" category. Woody wants this one for his 24th Big Ten victory in 26 starts, to avenge last year's 19-0 loss, and to carry a clean league record to Pasadena for the Rose Bowl battle with Coach Len Casanova's twice-beaten Oregon Webfoots.

Only 18 Teams Still Undefeated

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five college football teams fell from the perfect record class over the weekend, chopping the unbeaten, untied list to 18 schools.

Among the major ranks only Auburn and Arizona State remain, each with eight victories.

The list:

Ten games—Pittsburgh (Kan.).

Nine games—West Chester (Pa) Hillsdale and Middle Tenn. State.

Eight games—St. Norbert, Lincoln (Mo.), Auburn, Arizona State, Hampden - Sydney, Ripon (Wis), Lock Haven (Pa) Westminster (Utah) and Idaho State.

Seven games—Fairmont (WVa).

Six games — Juniata, Hobart, Elon (NC) and Florida A&M.

Robinson Doffs His U. S. Marine Uniform

CINCINNATI (AP) — Frankie Robinson, star left fielder for the Cincinnati Redlegs, put aside his Marine Corps uniform Saturday to look for a job to tide him over until spring training.

Mustered into the Marines only a few weeks ago, Robinson was discharged Friday at Parris Island, S. C., because of an old arm and shoulder injury.

"I have no added pain," he said. "It's just about the same as it always is," he reported.

Ohio College Teams End Conference Football Cards

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's colleges, having settled their conference championships, have a little interstate competition to wrap up before dropping the curtain on the 1957 campaign.

After winning only four of 12 games against outside teams last weekend, the Buckeye boys are deadlocked for the season's laurels.

They've won 47, lost 47, tied five, and are five points behind in scoring, 1,671 to 1,66. With only three interstate contests to go, the Ohioans must win two to match the 1956 figures.

A year ago the Buckeyes won 49, lost 48 and tied four, but were outscored by 30 points, 1,613 to 1,583. Saturday's games — Ohio State at Michigan, Detroit at Dayton, and Youngstown at Eastern Kentucky—offer the last chance to get ahead.

On the home front, Miami won the Mid-American title with a 5-0-0 record, Bluffton retained its Mid-Ohio loop crown with 5-0-0, John Carroll replaced Wayne as President's Conference king with 3-0-0, and Denison and Wittenberg deadlocked for the Ohio Conference championship with 6-1-0.

Wittenberg lost a 9-7 verdict to Akron in the opening conference contest, and Denison's lost was 17-14 to Heidelberg. Wittenberg sandwiched its six wins between two losses, the Lutherans losing 28-13 to Western Kentucky in Saturday's finale.

Denison continued to roll, however, by 40-14 over Ohio Wesleyan, to take the state-wide lead with 8-1-0 and the high-scoring laurels with 357 points. Bowling Green, shorn of its Mid-American crown with a 6-1-2 season, allowed only 55 points for the defensive honors.

All the state's 35 teams were beaten at least once, and only Case Tech and Wilmington failed to register a victory. Each had one tie, however, and Case came up with the nation's longest scoring run—a 109-yard kick return against Ohio Wesleyan.

Case scored only 38 points in six games for the least potent offense, while Marietta's Pioneers let 294 points trickle across their goal line for the leakiest defense.

Ohio State can tie Denison for the statewide lead at 8-1-0 by defeating Michigan Saturday, adding that to its Big Ten title and the Rose Bowl bid.

Irish-Iowa Grid Tilt Slated on Television

CHICAGO (AP) — The Iowa-Notre Dame football game Saturday at South Bend, will be televised as part of the NCAA series.

NBC will carry the telecast, Western Conference officials announced Sunday.

Notre Dame, which shattered Oklahoma's 47-game winning streak Saturday, will be out to avenge a 48-8 lacing administered by Iowa last year.

The Irish have a 5-2 record this year while the Hawkeyes are 6-1-1 in overall competition.

Rabbit Carries $20 in Teeth

YOUNGSTOWN (AP)—A single shot by a Youngstown rabbit hunter put meat on his dinner table and financed his hunting expedition.

Henry T. Downey lowered his smoking shotgun and went up eagerly to claim his prize. In the rabbit's mouth was a $20 bill, apparently dropped by one of the dozen hunters in the area near New Springfield.

As proof Downey is displaying the bloodstained bill, which has two teeth marks on a folded edge and some rabbit hairs in the blood stains.

IRISH UPSET OKLAHOMA -- Oklahoma's Carl Dodd (22), dashes into Notre Dame territory for a 13-yard gain as Sooner fullback Morris blocks out Nick Pietrosante (49) of the Irish. The underdog Notre Dame team toppled Oklahoma 7 to 0, and ended the nation's longest collegiate winning streak at 47 games. The game, which was witnessed by 62,000 fans at Norman, Okla., marked the first defeat for the Sooners since Nov. 9, 1953 and the first time in 123 games in which they have been held scoreless.

Undefeated Auburn Looming As National Grid Champion

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Out of the carnage that struck down Oklahoma and Texas A&M, Auburn—a team that never before had dared dream of such things—today emerged as the possible national champion of college football.

With an 8-0 record, and 12 straight victories over the past two years, Shug Jordan's Plainsmen remain one of the two major unbeaten-untied teams in the country. Arizona State at Tempe is the other.

Auburn, ineligible for a bowl assignment because it is in bad with the NCAA, still has two games to play against Florida State and Alabama, but neither of these should present any undue difficulty.

This Auburn team is strictly a defensive outfit, and four of its victories have come by the margin of one touchdown, including Saturday's 6-0 squeaker over Georgia. The touchdown came on the only winning pass thrown by the club all season.

Both Oklahoma and Texas A&M bit the dust last week. The Sooners' 7-0 setback at the hands of Notre Dame, of course, was the shocker of the year—the last four years, in fact. The Irish, soundly trounced the two previous weeks, snapped Oklahoma's 47-game winning streak and also shut the Sooners out for the first time in 123 games.

Texas A&M was sidetracked by Rice, 7-6, and thus had its hopes of wrapping up the Southwest Conference championship for the second straight year toppled, at least temporarily.

Rice and Texas now are in the running, but the Aggies, who couldn't act as Cotton Bowl hosts last Jan. 1 because they were on NCAA probation, still are the favorites. They play Texas in the finals for both teams Thanksgiving Day.

Most of the major bowl positions are settled now. Here is how they stand:

Rose—Ohio State vs. Oregon.

Orange—Oklahoma vs. Duke.

Sugar—Mississippi vs the second place team in the Southwest Conference.

Cotton—Texas A&M favored vs. Navy, if Middies beat Army Nov. 30.

Ohio State, Oregon and Duke all cemented their spots last Saturday.

Duke must go through the formalities of being voted into the Orange Bowl by the Atlantic Coast Conference bigwigs.

Celtic's Cousy Seriously Hurt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The big news in the National Basketball Assn. today is that Bob Cousy, Boston's brilliant playmaker, will be lost to the undefeated Celtics for several weeks.

Cousy was accidentally kicked in the side of the leg by Philadelphia's Neil Johnston while Boston rode to its 11th consecutive victory Saturday night. Latest reports say Cousey's leg is swollen and a blood clot is feared.

Sunday night's action was featured by Detroit's 95-91 victory over Philadelphia which put the Pistons in first place in the Western Division.

St. Louis defeated the Cincinnati Royals 98-97 and the Syracuse Nationals beat the Minneapolis Lakers 110-98.

Oklahoma Coach Not Too Surprised

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Long winning streaks in football are a thing of the past. No less an authority than Oklahoma coach Bud Wilkinson feels that way.

Last Saturday, Notre Dame's big line and alert backfield laid asunder the Sooners' 47-game winning streak, 7-0.

The streak was the longest in collegiate history.

"We were lucky to get this far before getting beat," Wilkinson said today. "And I have no doubt in my mind that there'll be no more such winning streaks."

IRISH UPSET OKLAHOMA -- Oklahoma's Carl Dodd (22), dashes into Notre Dame territory for a 13-yard gain as Sooner fullback Morris blocks out Nick Pietrosante (49) of the Irish. The underdog Notre Dame team toppled Oklahoma 7 to 0, and ended the nation's longest collegiate winning streak at 47 games. The game, which was witnessed by 62,000 fans at Norman, Okla., marked the first defeat for the Sooners since Nov. 9, 1953 and the first time in 123 games in which they have been held scoreless.

Undefeated Auburn Looming As National Grid Champion

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Out of the carnage that struck down Oklahoma and Texas A&M, Auburn—a team that never before had dared dream of such things—today emerged as the possible national champion of college football.

With an 8-0 record, and 12 straight victories over the past two years, Shug Jordan's Plainsmen remain one of the two major unbeaten-untied teams in the country. Arizona State at Tempe is the other.

Auburn, ineligible for a bowl assignment because it is in bad with the NCAA, still has two games to play against Florida State and Alabama, but neither of these should present any undue difficulty.

This Auburn team is strictly a defensive outfit, and four of its victories have come by the margin of one touchdown, including Saturday's 6-0 squeaker over Georgia. The touchdown came on the only winning pass thrown by the club all season.

Both Oklahoma and Texas A&M bit the dust last week. The Sooners' 7-0 setback at the hands of Notre Dame, of course, was the shocker of the year—the last four years, in fact. The Irish, soundly trounced the two previous weeks, snapped Oklahoma's 47-game winning streak and also shut the Sooners out for the first time in 123 games.

Texas A&M was sidetracked by Rice, 7-6, and thus had its hopes of wrapping up the Southwest Conference championship for the second straight year toppled, at least temporarily.

Rice and Texas now are in the running, but the Aggies, who couldn't act as Cotton Bowl hosts last Jan. 1 because they were on NCAA probation, still are the favorites. They play Texas in the finals for both teams Thanksgiving Day.

Most of the major bowl positions are settled now. Here is how they stand:

Rose—Ohio State vs. Oregon.

Orange—Oklahoma vs. Duke.

Sugar—Mississippi vs the second place team in the Southwest Conference.

Cotton—Texas A&M favored vs. Navy, if Middies beat Army Nov. 30.

Ohio State, Oregon and Duke all cemented their spots last Saturday.

Duke must go through the formalities of being voted into the Orange Bowl by the Atlantic Coast Conference bigwigs.

Celtic's Cousy Seriously Hurt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The big news in the National Basketball Assn. today is that Bob Cousy, Boston's brilliant playmaker, will be lost to the undefeated Celtics for several weeks.

Cousy was accidentally kicked in the side of the leg by Philadelphia's Neil Johnston while Boston rode to its 11th consecutive victory Saturday night. Latest reports say Cousey's leg is swollen and a blood clot is feared.

Sunday night's action was featured by Detroit's 95-91 victory over Philadelphia which put the Pistons in first place in the Western Division.

St. Louis defeated the Cincinnati Royals 98-97 and the Syracuse Nationals beat the Minneapolis Lakers 110-98.

Oklahoma Coach Not Too Surprised

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Long winning streaks in football are a thing of the past. No less an authority than Oklahoma coach Bud Wilkinson feels that way.

Last Saturday, Notre Dame's big line and alert backfield laid asunder the Sooners' 47-game winning streak, 7-0.

The streak was the longest in collegiate history.

"We were lucky to get this far before getting beat," Wilkinson said today. "And I have no doubt in my mind that there'll be no more such winning streaks."

We attended our Ohio Auto Dealers State Convention in Columbus last Monday and Tuesday. It's fine to meet and greet dealers from all over Ohio, discuss our mutual problems, now big a fish we caught last summer and how many grandchildren we have.

I just got a report from the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. One item stated: The hog bristle business is bad -- very bad. Two years ago the government offered to sell 2 (two) million pounds of bristles. To date 1,300,000 pounds of bristles are still looking for buyers. As Pa said when his small son asked him how much is a million dollars, Pa said "It's a H--- of a lot of money." The same applies to hog bristles.

One speaker, Mr. Joe Leopold, stated he had heard the statement "creeping" socialism was upon us, he said it's not creeping it's galloping and he proceeded to prove his statements very conclusively. In a recent poll of 5800 high school students by Scholastic magazine 33% of the boys agreed that business could be better run by the government. About 22% favored government operation of the coal industry and 18% preferred a government run steel industry. There is only one answer. They are not getting the facts which would enable them to understand and appreciate free enterprise. Why not explain our business program to our employees?

Since the Sputnik season is lagging, the pheasant season has come into it's own. Have you noticed how much longer the fields get each year and how much higher the fences. The slogan "Be sure it's game before you aim" is a good one. Also the new Chevrolet slogan "Almost too new to be true" is a dandy. Come out and take a ride in one of our beautiful 1958 Chevrolets or Buicks.

Fugitive Python Cold, Comes Home

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—Cold weather, or maybe loneliness, was too much for Big Ben, the fugitive 21-foot python.

He slithered from his cage at an alligator farm Friday. But after two days on the nearby desert, where temperatures dropped to 40 degrees, he crawled home and wistfully poked his nose through the fence.

He was returned to his cage. Keeper Jack Adams said, "He caught a slight cold, but I think he'll be all right."

Saffron is the most expensive of spices used in cookery today. It's price is about $58 a pound.

Fugitive Python Cold, Comes Home

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—Cold weather, or maybe loneliness, was too much for Big Ben, the fugitive 21-foot python.

He slithered from his cage at an alligator farm Friday. But after two days on the nearby desert, where temperatures dropped to 40 degrees, he crawled home and wistfully poked his nose through the fence.

He was returned to his cage. Keeper Jack Adams said, "He caught a slight cold, but I think he'll be all right."

Musical selections, both vocal and instrumental, were presented by pupils of Mrs. W. S. Paxson. Natalie Cobb and Rita Blessing presented vocal selections, Jimmy Fletcher played two accordian solos and Wally Matson gave two steel guitar solos.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Virgil Souther, the president.

Next meeting of the Marion PTO is scheduled to be in the school auditorium Dec. 5. No business will be conducted; rather, the entire meeting will be devoted to a game supper for members only. After the supper an auction will be held and each family has been asked to bring food or suitable articles to be auctioned.
